Delay Action Bids

In the first city council meeting of the new year five bids were received for the installation of a 10,000 kilovolt amperes power transformer for the board of public works. None were accepted.

Raymert Miller, city manager, requested the council to allow Herb Phelps, manager of the BOPW, and him three days to study the bids more thoroughly. The meeting was held last night in the city administration building.

The lowest bid was $51,100 from the Maloney Electric Company, St. Louis.

The highest bid was $54,722 from General Electric Supply Company, Cape Girardeau.

Allis-Chalmers, St. Louis, bid $54,000, Westinghouse Electric Supply Company, St. Louis, $54,500 and Pennsylvania Transformer Division, St. Louis, $53,030.

W. C. Mulcahy, Benton, Scott County Health officer, appeared before the council with information about a proposed new ordinance for eating and drinking establishments.

He informed the council that the city was now operating under an ordinance drawn up in 1943.

"This new ordinance is for changing and upgrading eating and drinking establishments in the city," he said.

"The number one effect will be that I and other health inspectors can enter private organizations to make inspections. We are mainly concerned with church suppers.

"Also, the temperatures in freezers will be lowered from a required 50 degrees to 45 degrees.

"The state recommends that we adopt this new ordinance."

He said that Jackson is the only neighboring city having it.

Miller informed the council that the new signs allowing right turns on red signal lights in the city are aiding the flow of traffic.

He also informed it that pedestrians have the right of way when the right turn signs are being used.

Miller told the council about plans to widen Center, New Madrid, Scott, Kingshighway and Gladys streets this year.

He told the city council that he and Harold Vogel, public schools administrative assistant, may go to Jefferson City this month in behalf of a new civic center for the city.

Give Food Baskets

President Lucien Stoner reported at the Rotary club meeting last night that he and Allan Hubbard delivered five Rotary' food baskets to Sikeston needy at Christmas. The baskets provided food for 42 persons, he said.

James Green asked the club to nominate a young man for the annual Jaycee distinguished service award.

Donation of $10 for a Rotary youth project by Lloyd Ogan of Trenton, former member of the Sikeston club, was announced.

Chip Schmerbauch announced that he would make a strip film about the Rotarian magazine available to the Morley Rotary club.

A recorded speech by Dr. John Furbay, Trans World Airlines executive and world traveler, will be next Monday's night program. It will be provided by John Kuehle.

Don Bohannon distributed the remainder of the Christmas gifts from overseas for Rotary club members' wives. Max Smotherman led the singing. Mary Ann Bruce accompanied at the piano.

Recreational Center for 75

MINGO -- Sikeston has been designated as the official recreational outlet for more than 75 students in the job corps at the Mingo National Wildlife Refuge it was announced today by Robert Hickey, camp director.

He said the students are brought over here for movies and other activities.

Students participating in the job corps are from impoverished families and are between 16 and 21 years of age and in need of a basic education and a job.

Hickey said that training is being given in mathematics, reading and vocations.

The camp has been in operation since Nov. 17.

Order Given Quill

NEW YORK (AP) — A state court judge told Michael J. Quill, head of the striking transit workers, to get the city's buses and subways running again today or go to jail.

In any case the day holds another harrowing experience for the 3.5 million New Yorkers who have to get to work.

For them it means a second day of traffic jams, packed railroad terminals, lost business, missed sleep and ragged nerves.

Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller found Quill and eight other union officials guilty of civil contempt Monday in ordering the 34,400 transit employes off the job New Year's Day in defiance of a court injunction.

Report Two Breakins

Police reported today two more burglaries that happened during the holiday weekend.

Entry was made through a skylight atop the J. C. Penney store and the soft drink machine was broken into.

An inventory is being made to see if anything else has been taken.

The Mitchell - Sharp Motor Company reported that their establishment was entered through a bathroom window and their soft drink machine was rifled. Nothing else was reported missing.

564 Killed In Traffic

CHICAGO AP -- Traffic accidents killed 564 persons during the 78-hour New Year's weekend, the second consecutive record established during the year-end holiday.

The 720 persons killed during the three - day Christmas observance brought the total number of deaths for the two holiday weekends to 1,284. The Christmas toll was an all-time high for any holiday period.

The New Year's total wiped out the record established for the turn-of-the-year holiday weekend in 1964-65 when 474 persons perished in motor vehicle accidents. The lowest toll for a New Year's weekend was 269 during the 78-hour period in 1949-50.

Police Chief Arthur Bruce was admitted for a checkup and treatment of a cold.

Hackney Faces Charge

NEW MADRID -- Following a coroner's inquest yesterday at 2 p.m., Forrest Hackney, 50, was charged with murder in the shooting of Billy Gray, 27, Friday night.

The action was taken by Prosecuting Attorney Hal Hunter.

Hackney's bond was placed at $10,000. He is being held in the county jail.

The shooting took place at the Hackney home, after the two men went to the Hackney home to discuss the sale of a hog, inquest testimony related. In was followed by an argument as to who would take Gray home.

Mrs. Pearl Gray and her 14-year-old son were in the Hackney home at the time. They went outside when they heard a shot fired and did not see the shooting, officers reported.

Hackney and Gray had come from a Marston tavern earlier in the evening, where they had been drinking, authorities said.

Gray had come to Marston from St. Louis, where he had been employed, to attend a funeral.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner Leo Hedgepeth.

Illinois Man Fined $127

Ten persons faced charges this morning in magistrate court before Judge John Hux.

Billy Kirk, Rochelle, Ill., was fined $111 for driving while intoxicated and $16 for operating a motor vehicle while violating a restriction on his operator's license that does not allow him to drive while under the influence of alcoholic beverages.

Patsy Brown, 909 S. Prairie, was fined $16 for operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

Marion Brent, 817 Pine, had a charge of non-support continued.

Mildred Eifert, Bertrand, was fined $17.50 for speeding.

Roger Kenser, route four, was fined $21 for speeding.

Ann Samon, Charleston, was fined $21 for speeding.

Jerry Loony, 418 Illinois, was fined $21 for operating a motor vehicle with an inadequate muffler.

Clayton Thomas, Decator, Ala., was fined $61 for having possession of liquor while a minor.

David Harvell, Pearl River, La., was fined $61 for possession of liquor while a minor.

James Dolan, Manchester, was fined $17 for speeding.

Boom Believed To Be Sonic

Sikeston was jarred at 7:11 p.m. last night by what sounded like an explosion.

It was believed to be a sonic boom. The Blytheville, Ark., air force base reported that one plane was in the area that might have broken the sound barrier.

Negro Shooting In New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- Billy Gray, 26, and Robert Taylor, 24, both colored were involved in a shooting affray at the home of Gray.

Taylor, according to the sheriff's office, stated he caught his wife and Gray at Gray's home, which led to the shooting around 7 p.m. New Year's eve.

Gray was shot in the hand and groin with a 16-gauge shotgun. A portion of Gray's hand was severed.

The two men lived in the same neighborhood.

Taylor made bond of $2,500 and has been released from the county jail.

24 Arrested For Drinking

Arthur Bruce, chief of police, reported that police arrested 24 persons for being drunk during December.

Fines totaled $1,395.

Thirty three were arrested for careless driving.

Twelve persons were charged with disturbing the peace; 12 with assault and 22 were turned over to state authorities.

Sailor Sees World Much Too Slowly

EAST PRAIRIE -- Harold D. Green, the 17-year-old East Prairie sailor who threatened to jump from a California building, joined the navy but was unhappy because he didn't see the world fast enough.

Mrs. Norval Bohannon, an aunt, said that "going overseas was all Harold talked about" before he enlisted in the Navy last summer.

The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, who live on a farm five miles southeast of East Prairie.

Mrs. Bohannon said that young Green recently had become ill and was transferred to a hospital ship while "his buddies left on another ship for a foreign port."

She said that he was left at the home port because of his age and that this depressed him.

However, he telephoned his parents Sunday night and was reported to have been in excellent spirits then.

He was a junior in East Prairie high school last year.

Young Green, a naval apprentice fireman, threatened to jump from the 12th floor of a building in Long Beach, Calif., because he couldn't get into the Viet Nam fighting, the Associated Press reported.

"I'm not with the rest of them, fighting and dying," Green said. "If I get killed, I'd sure take a bunch of the enemy with me.

"I've made two requests to go overseas, but they won't let me."

While Green straddled the fire escape of an ocean-front building, someone in a crowd that gathered below shouted, "Jump, jump."

A police reporter for the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, Bill Hazlett; a policeman, Sgt. Ed Finney, and a Navy chaplain, Lt. Jack Six, all played a big part in the drama.

For a half hour Hazlett leaned through a window, talking to Green and describing his Korea combat experiences to gain the youth's confidence. A veteran of the Inchon landing, Hazlett is a reserve Army captain. He also promised to publicize Green's desire to go to Viet Nam.

Police credited this promise with helping to lure the boy from his perch.

Finney, a Navy veteran, climbed onto the fire escape with Green and talked the Missourian into coming back into the building.

While Green talked with the chaplain, two other police officers descended quietly from the roof, came through the window and seized Green.

Kashmir Bar To Peace

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The leaders of India and Pakistan offered each other a no-war pact today but there appeared to be no prospect either offer would be accepted.

The stumbling block was the two nations' bitter quarrel over possession of Kashmir, the Himalayan state which has had the two nations at war twice since 1949.

Ayub and Shastri met for the first time since the India-Pakistan war in September at a villa on the outskirts of this Soviet central Asian city.

Police Arrest Five Persons

Five persons, three of whom were charged with careless driving, were arrested by police yesterday.

Those charged with careless driving were Andrew Dickerson, 604 Smith; George Wright, Morehouse, and Troy Clinton, route two.

Lena Hunter, Dexter, was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Kenneth Heffner, 525 Sikes, was charged with disturbing the peace.

Jury Rules Felony in Tavern Death

CHARLESTON -- A coroner's inquest yesterday returned a verdict that Luther Wright, 47, had committed a felony in connection with the fatal shooting of Wilson Bradley, Belmont tavern owner.

A preliminary hearing will be held in magistrate court Thursday.

A charge of murder has been filed against Wright, by Prosecuting Attorney Rod Ashby.

Wright has been in the Mississippi county jail after the death of Bradley, who was shot eight times and killed in his tavern Thursday night. Wright was a part time employe at the establishment.

Witnesses were heard at the inquest, called by Coroner Elgin McMikle, to determine the fact that crime had been committed and to determine the time and place it occurred.

Floods Close School Roads

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The North Pemiscot schools were closed today for the second day because a weekend deluge of rain flooded roads.

The Gobler schools were closed Monday.

Utility service was affected by the heavy rain, which measured 10 inches in Kennett.

Some furnaces were flooded. Phones went out of service temporarily in the Senath area. There were disruptions in telephone service also at Kennett, Hornersville and Cardwell.

Robber Twice Uses Bank

PECULIAR, Mo. (AP) — A man made use of the Cass County Bank twice Monday, once to break a $100 bill, and again to rob it of about $5,000.

The second time, he told the bank president, Edward P. Schug, that he wanted the bank's help in buying some farm property.

"He went back to my office," Schug said. "I wasn't familiar with the farm, and while I was looking it up he borrowed my note pad."

The man slipped the pad to Schug, and on it was written: "This is a holdup. I need $5,000 immediately. Give no notice to anyone. Don't sound the alarm. I have a gun."

Schug looked up from reading the note. The robber showed him a pistol, and gave Schug a black plastic bag for the money. Schug filled it with bills from $1 to $100.

The man walked out. Schug said he followed him later, but he was gone.

THE FEAST OF EPIPHANY

Epiphany -- the Feast of the Three Kings celebrates the day the Magi came to Behtlehem bearing gifts for the Infant Jesus. It is observed in the Roman and Anglican and most other Christian faiths on January 6 -- which falls on a Thursday this year. The coming of the Magi is regarded as the first manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles. Thus the day features candle lighting services, and statues of the Wise Men are for the first time introduced into creches in churches.

In the Greek Orthodox Church and other Eastern followings the emphasis is on the Baptism of Christ in the River Jordan. In U.S. cities where the Greek Church has many communicants, the custom is to have a priest throw a cross into a river to be retrieved by brave young men of the congregation. The youth who succeeds is supposed to bring honor to his family and good fortune to himself.

A number of children in Latin America receive their toys on Epiphany. In some Latin urban areas, however, there is a mixture of Spanish and U.S. traditions.

TILL THE SUN SHINES: Lyndon Baines Johnson is now publicly committed to making an attempt to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act in the 1966 session of the 89th Congress. In a recent letter to Walter Reuther he said, "we have made significant progress in 1965 toward the long-sought goal of repealing Section 14(b) . . . we will come back in the next session to remove this devisive provision from the law."

But what Lyndon wants, Lyndon doesn't always get. Last October a majority of U.S. Senators voted against cloture. Thirty-four Senators are now pledged to another "attenuated" debate to prevent repeal of 14(b). Here are public statements made by 31 of the Senators who do not intend to lose in '66 what they won in '65:

Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R. Illinois) -- "If it comes up again there will be a fight. This is not partisan and political, it's American."

Senator Strom Thurmond (R. South Carolina)-- "I am delighted that this attempt at repeal has been laid aside for this year, and I want to assure you of my continued opposition to any repeal."

Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr. (D. North Carolina)-- "I assure you that I shall continue to oppose any attempt to repeal this section of the Act."

Senator Carl Curtis (R. Nebraska) -- "I regard this as just the opening round. The effort to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act very probably will be resumed next year. It will be resisted just as vigorously then as it has been this year, with those of us who oppose compulsory unionism in an even stronger position because of public sentiment. In my opinion, the vote on cloture reflected the thinking of the American people. I believe we will win."

Senator Harry F. Byrd (D. Virginia) -- "You can be sure I intend to continue this fight to the bitter end."

Senator Hiram L. Fong (R. Hawaii) -- "I have consistently fought to protect and extend the range of individual freedom and to insure civil rights and civil liberties for all Americans."

Senator Spessard L. Holland (D. Florida)-- "You may be assured of my continued vigorous opposition to the repeal of this Section which recognizes the states right - to - work laws."

Senator Wallace F. Bennett (R. Utah) -- "I am sure we can survive another similar experience next spring and with the same result, but naturally I am anxious to save everybody's time and the wear and tear on their emotions."

Senator A. Willis Robertson (D. Virginia)-- "I hope that we not only have defeated this for the past session, but for all time."

Senator Paul J. Fannin (R. Arizona) -- "If an attempt is made next year to repeal 14(b) I again intend to do everything I can to defeat it."

Senator Peter H. Dominick (R. Colorado)-- "If a state constitution can be overridden, why have a state government at all?"

Senator A. S. Mike Monroney (D. Oklahoma)-- "I voted for this postponement, and I have announced that I would vote against repeal of Section 14(b)."

Senator Roman L. Hruska (R. Nebraska)-- "You are assured that determined resistance to the repeal of 14(b) will be continued in the next session, and it is my expectation that we will have gained some new allies when Senators return after talking with their constituents and learning of the widespread opposition to compulsory unionism."

Senator Len B. Jordan (R. Idaho) -- "It is, of course, difficult now to predict the future of this legislation, but you may be sure when it comes up again, I shall continue to vigorously oppose efforts aimed at repeal."

Senator Milton R. Young (R. North Dakota)-- "I have always opposed any provision in federal labor legislation to repeal Section 14 (b) and I assure you if this issue should come up in the next Congress, my position will remain unchanged."

Senator John J. Williams (R. Delaware)-- "I appreciate hearing from you and assure you that I shall continue to do whatever I can to prevent repeal of this section of the law if it is brought up for consideration again next year."

Senator Frank Carlson (R. Kansas) -- "You may continue to count upon my support if an effort is again made next year to delete this section from the bill."

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R. Iowa)-- "I am very pleased with the outcome of the vote, and I hope that we can continue to defeat any effort to repeal this section."

Senator Karl E. Mundt (R. South Dakota)-- "This decision to withdraw the repeal legislation represents a qualified victory for those of us who believe State right-to-work laws not only perform a needed function in guaranteeing freedom of choice on the part of the working man but are also a legitimate utilization of the principle of states' rights. It is a qualified victory in the sense that although we were able to stop the Union Bosses in this session of Congress, they are expected to press hard for passage of this legislation in this session beginning next January."

Senator George Murphy (R. California) -- "I cannot support the present form of the bill, and I will join Senator Dirksen and other Republicans in an effort to defeat this legislation."

Senator James B. Pearson (R. Kansas) -- "It was very thoughtful of you to send me a word of encouragement following the Senate debate on the repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. I hope my work here will continue to merit your confidence and support."

Senator Allen J. Ellender (D. Louisiana)-- "I see nothing to recommend the deletion of Section 14(b)"

Senator Herman E. Talmadge (D. Georgia)-- "I shall continue to oppose any measure which would abridge individual and State discretion in this area."

Senator John G. Tower (R. Texas) -- "It is my intention to engage in extensive debate on this matter when it again reaches the Senate floor."

Senator John L. McClellan (D. Arkansas)-- "I know of no reason now why I should change my position."

Senator Gordon Allott (R. Colorado)--"While it would appear that the battle has been won in this session of Congress, the war is not over. Since this issue will undoubtedly be revived again next year -- and a good soldier does not expend all his ammunition on the first attack -- the lengthy speech I have prepared for this year is ready for extended combat next session."

Senator Frank J. Lausche (D. Ohio) -- "I have already expressed my views that Section 14(b) should not be repealed and will do so again."

Senator John C. Stennis (D. Mississippi) -- "We are sure to face a stronger fight than ever before and I will do everything possible to prevent its passage."

Senator Milward L. Simpson (R. Wyoming)-- "I am sure that when Members of Congress return to their homes, they will find that the great majority of people oppose the attempts to destroy this fundamental right of Americans to work without compulsory unionism."

Senator Richard B. Russell (D. Georgia) -- "I will do my best."

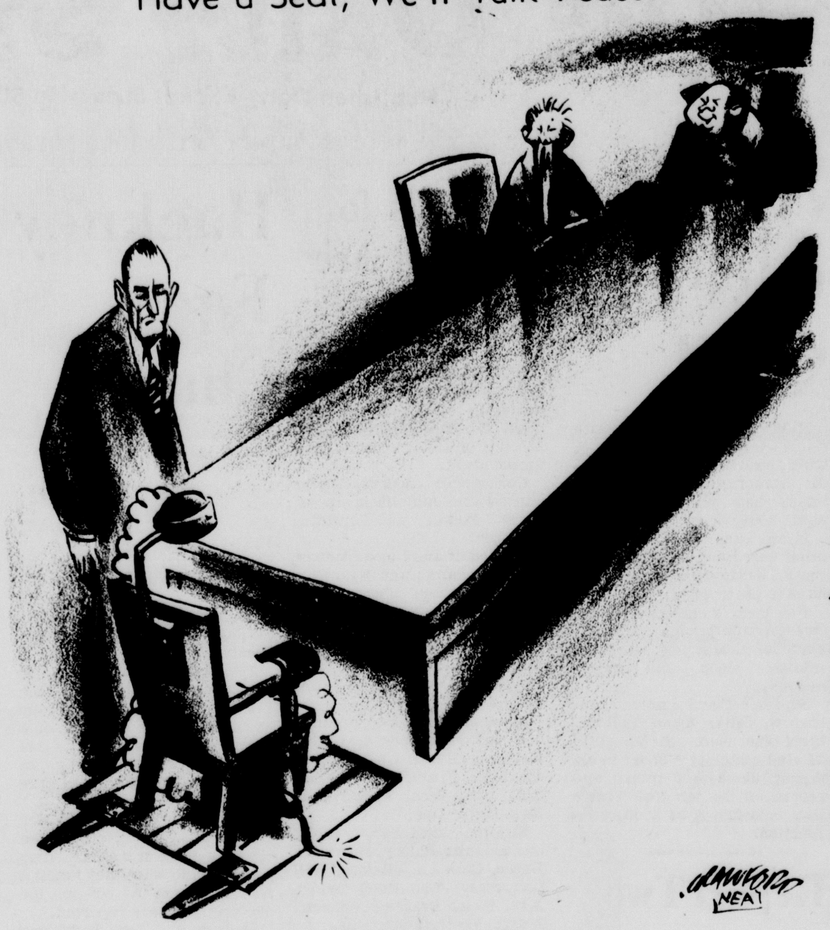

Senator B. Everett Jordan (D. North Carolina)-- "Let me assure you I am and will do everything I can in opposition to Repeal."

We fail to find Missouri's Senators in the above.

The State Highway Patrol announced today that as Missouri motorists start the new year they will leave behind the most tragic traffic record in its history.

During the first month of last year 126 people were killed in Missouri traffic. As the weeks and months rolled by the slaughter continued. On December 21 the Patrol recorded the 1,294th traffic victim of 1965, breaking the record high toll set the previous year.

Captain John A. Berglund, of the Patrol's Safety Division, made this comment, "As we begin a new year everyone is looking hopefully to the months ahead. Regretfully, we look backward to the shameful traffic record of 1965, by far the worst in our history.

"Last year has tragically followed in the grim footsteps of its predecessor -- adding rather than subtracting from the mounting death toll, injuries and property destruction on our highways. When and where the tide will turn is anyone's guess and is the business of all of us."

Captain Berglund noted that drivers continue to make the same mistakes at the wheel. He said they continue to drive at an illegal or unsafe speed, they often fail to yield the right of way and that many people follow other vehicles too closely.

"Many persons have learned the hard way during the past year as to the price of making a mistake on the highway," the Captain continued. "Some of these people are no longer with us. Others are still suffering from injuries incurred in traffic accidents and many have suffered economic losses.

"The beginning of a new year is a good time for motorists to take an honest look at their driving habits. The mistakes they made, and got away with in the past, may very well result in tragedy in the future," Captain Berglund concluded.

A CHAPTER IN AN ENDLESS BOOK

One of the fascinating chapters in the endless book that is the story of this nation has to do with the express companies.

There have been many of them. Some have been forgotten, even though they played their part in the making of history. Others are remembered -- Adams, American, Wells Fargo. And the most famous of them all, the Pony Express, lives brilliantly in legend and is a symbol of courage, enterprise and the pioneering spirit.

The first express company was founded in 1839. The earliest companies crisscrossed the populated East where the demand for service was great. But soon express ventures pressed westward, to meet the needs of the pioneers with ever-expanding transportation and communications lifelines.

In 1918, the express companies that remained were unified in order to provide a better, more economical and more comprehensive service. And now, in REA Express, we have an operation which links the cities and towns of all 50 states along with world-wide points on all the continents.

The express company of the present would seem an unbelieveably complex enterprise to those who pioneered the business. But all the companies have had one thing in common -- the will and the ability to create and offer the finest service that the knowledge and conditions of their times permitted.

A bum woke in the middle of a stench-filled garbage dump. He looked around and sadly realized that he had finally reached the dregs. Prepared to remain in the dump until death took him, he happened to spy a pencil stub in the trash. Tearing off a piece of greasy brown paper from a garbage bag, he began to write a farewell letter to his father, recounting all his misdeeds, expressing his regret for not heeding parental advice, his remorse, his sins, etc. Just as he was about to finish, his tired eyes spotted a half-filled bottle of wine. Groping, he reached the bottle, downed its contents in one furious gulp. Then he continued his letter: " . . . and so, father, if there is ever anything you might need, please come pay me a visit and I'll . . ."

No news travels faster or farther than that news of a rich oil or mineral strike. No news is harder to keep bottled up. For example, a few years ago when the 18 jiant mineing companies started drilling like mad for minerals in Swamp East Mo. the news soon leaked out that they was hitting ore all over. That's when the price of lead took a nose-dive and Unk stepped in buying and stokpiling lead. At that time lead had tumbled to 10¢ a pound. Its 16¢ now. So far so good, but it was then realized that it would never do to risk all of that potential in the hands of the thousand of individual landowner. Hence the scheme was proposed to confiscate this potential in the name of conservation with the cooperation of the Geological Survey and the State and Federal officeholders. Apparently there is one little hitch in that plan. The cat is out of the bag now and it may wind up in another Tea Pot Dome scandal that knows no party lines. With all officeholders from Dog-catcher to President under a strict contract with the people with a chain about their neck to pull them out of office at anytime they stray from the straight and narrow. The motto of the people to be, no contract no vote.

H. L. Hunt Says

DEFENSE IS PROVOCATION?

At the Pugwash disarmament conference held in Moscow in November, 1960, Dr. Jerome Wiesner and Walt Whitman Rostow, in closed talks with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of USSR, discussed the disarmament of the United States, as a concession to avoid "provocation" of the Russians.

In a confidential memorandum, Rostow urged the adoption of a strategy which would be inoffensive to the Russians. Out of the Rostow Memorandum grew State Department Document 7277, which outlines a sucidal plan for "general and complete disarmament" in a "peaceful world" which simply does not exist.

Wiesner told the Moscow conclave that world peace would be encouraged if the Russians could develop a nuclear capacity equal to that of the United States; he advised the Soviet to harden their missile sites to safeguard them from enemy attack. Since the U.S. is the enemy for which Russian missiles are intended, it is hard to figure out just whom Dr. Wiesner was representing at the Pugwash Conference.

Wiesner and Rostow, who worked on super-secret CIA projects at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, have seen their theories come to pass in the policies of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. One of the specific proposals of the Moscow conference, to scrap our manned bombers and missiles surrounding the Communist empire, was carried out early in Mr. McNamara's reign over the Pentagon.

McNamara, diligently carrying out the covert provisions of the 7277 disarmament plan, recently announced his schedule for completion of one of the advanced stages of the plan: the scrapping of the SAC bomber fleet.

And now Dr. Wiesner has declared that the development of an anti-missile defense network by the U.S. would be "provocative." But most provocative is our liberty. HLH

NEW YORK AP -- Don't throw bricks in '66. As best we can make it out, 1966 will be a poor year in which to rock the boat -- and a good one in which to learn the art of walking on eggs.

The road signs say, "Go slow" and "Sharp curves ahead."

Economically speaking, the world outlook is mixed. This means that in most countries the rich will get more money and the poor will get more promises.

On the international front these possibilities cannot be overlooked:

Charles de Gaulle of France will offer to go to China to launch a worldwide peace offensive. The NATO nations will immediately offer him a rowboat in which to make the journey.

Moscow will claim new evidence to prove that the swivel chair, paper clip and bubble gum were originally invented by 18th century Russian scientists working in Minsk, Pinsk and Omsk.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain will announce to a startled Parliament that an elderly baronet on a bird-watching trip to Wales has sighted a grossbilled twithatch, a species believed extinct. Later, in an emergency apology broadcast over BBC, he will declare that fuller investigation has disclosed the bird in question was actually a grosstwitted hatchbill, a bird of quite a different feather.

The man in the moon will appeal to the United Nations for relief, asserting that the noise level of rocket-firing space craft are threatening to make his life unendurable.

In a peace move in the war over highway beautification, the billboard people will offer Lady Bird a post as their industry arbiter.

President Johnson will sign an executive order granting Vice President Humphrey an airlines credit card good for trips anywhere in the world. He will use 102 pens — a record — in signing the order.

In other fields look for:

Education — Harvard will award an honorary degree as doctor of literature to Cassius Clay "for inestimable contributions to the English language."

Sports — Some pro football team will sign a college quarterback for $50 a week plus room and board but insist that he pay for his own laundry.

Medicine — A new wonder pill will be developed that won't cure you of anything but will make the payment of doctor bills less painful. The American Medical Association will oppose it as another step to socialized medicine.

All in all, 1966 promises to be a busy, exciting year full of thrills. Just take it easy — and don't cross the streets in the middle of the block — and you make it safely to 1967.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

THE SEA OF GALILEE--While the world has been worrying about war in Viet Nam and Kashmir, a less-publicized but long-festering sore is reaching the danger point at the crossroads of Asia, Africa and Europe.

On the borders of Israel and the Arab states, tensions are growing, troops are maneuvering, shots ring out every night over that most precious of man's essentials--water.

A swelling Israeli population has reached a point where it must have more water. And a sullen Arab population has reached a point where it is working to divert water from the streams that flow into Israel and the Sea of Galilee.

When Arab diversion plus Israeli diversion is complete, the water on the Sea of Galilee will fall so low that if Christ were walking on its waters today he might as well be tramping across mud flats. Already the water is getting salty, and the projected diversion will bring the shoreline down one-third, at which point the water from this historic sea will be fit for neither Arab nor Jew to drink.

Long before that, however, fighting is likely to break out along the jagged, restless border that separates Israel from the Arab states.

Already maneuvering ominously in the background is a powerful lineup of Arab and Israeli troops, tanks, planes and missiles, which if unleashed would churn up the sands of the Near East as never since the days of Herod's chariots. Furthermore, they would force the USA and USSR either to intervene actively for peace, or choose sides for world war.

SOVIETS ARM ARABS

Here is the line-up of military might at this crossroads of the Near East:

TANKS--The Soviet has sent 2,500 tanks to the Arab states, of which 500 are T-54's, just as powerful as the American M-60's, and considerably more powerful than the American M-48.

Against this, Israel has about 600 tanks, chiefly M-4 Shermans, some Centurians, and a few M-48's. In the past, the Israeli army has been able to outmaneuver and outgun its Arab opponents. However, the inescapable fact is that Israel is outnumbered in tanks about four to one.

AIR POWER -- The Soviet has sent about 150 bombers to the Arab states, chiefly Ilyushin 28's, of which 120 are flown by Egyptians. Since Israel is a small country, no bigger than Massachusetts, with long borders completely surrounded by Arab neighbors, this is considered an ample force to bomb any and every Israeli city--if war comes.

In addition, the Arab states are well equipped with the latest Soviet fighter planes, the MIG-19's and MIG-21's. The total Egyptian air strength is estimated at 500 planes, including 52 MIG-21's, 80 MIG-19's, 60 transport planes, and 40 helicopters.

Israel has about 450 aircraft, including 75 Mirage fighters equipped with Matra air-to-air missiles, considered the latest thing in French fighters. It also has 55 Ouragon fighter-bombers, one squadron of transport planes supplied by the United States, one squadron of helicopters and 60 Magister jet trainers.

BRINK OF WAR

In any showdown with the Arab states, Israel would have to depend on lightning attacks before the other side was ready --as happened in the Suez war. This is one reason the present situation is so dangerous. War can start in a few minutes, if one side gets nervous.

MISSILES -- Russia has now delivered to Egypt 14 fast patrol boats of the Komar class plus four of the OSA class, each carrying missiles somewhat on the order of our Polaris setup except that they are not nuclear. They have a range of 20 miles, and since Israel is long and narrow, with depth in one place of only seven miles, these patrol boats could do tremendous damage in case of war.

In addition, the ex-Nazi scientists whom Nasser has imported from Germany have now developed several important long-range missiles for the Egyptian army. They include Al Zafir, which carries a 1,000-pound warhead and has a range of 235 miles; also Al Kahir with a similar warhead and a range of 375 miles; also Al Ared with a one-ton warhead and a range of 1,000 miles.

Egypt is reported to have around 300 missiles and a known missile force of 4,500 men.

Israel now has the hawk surface - to - air missile, but has nothing to compare with Egypt's huge missile arsenal. The Israelis now depend on their 24-hour alert to defend themselves against attack, plus their fast-moving air force.

In a long war, however, the Arab world would have a tremendous advantage. The combined population of the Arab world surrounding the Mediterranean--though not all hostile to Israel -- totals 80 million. Israel's population is 2,5 million.

The showdown with the Arab world could come when more water is drained from the Sea of Galilee and its tributaries, and when that famous sea sinks to the level of a salt semi-quagmire. Or it could come before.

Today Col. Nasser has been bogged down in Yemen in a guerrilla war similar to our war in Viet Nam, which he cannot win. He needs a good excuse to withdraw; and the coming showdown over Arab-Israeli water may give him that excuse.

Inside Labor

Internal Revenue Service Makes Unprecedented Move; Wants Tough Chicago Teamsters Union Taxed as A Business

Washington, D. C.: -- One of the unsung celebrities of Chicago's shadowland society is Joseph Paul (Joey) Glimco, a labor leader whose status symbol is a tax action brought against him by the Internal Revenue Service.

What makes this unique lies not only in the sizable amount of money being demanded from Glimco by the Treasury Dept. for merely two years, but in the fact that this move is linked with a similar action against the Teamsters' local headed by Mr. Glimco.

The IRS, in effect, is charging that this union, Taxicab Drivers, Maintenance and Garage Helpers, Local 777, acted as a private corporation, should be taxed as a corporation, and therefore is not tax exempt.

This is the first time the government has taken such drastic action against a labor organization.

President Glimco, who has been charged by police officials under Congressional oath with being one of the 19 men who dominate the Chicago crime syndicate, did what comes naturally. He refused to pay. So did his Teamsters organization.

Just as naturally the IRS moved the action into court. On Feburary 14 both cases will be tried in Chicago. If the Treasury Dept. wins it will set a precedent. It will have proved that the union violated Section 501 of the 1954 Tax Code which sets up the rules for tax exempt organizations.

It should be a fascinating trial. The government's secret evidence, prepared in consultation between IRS and the Justice Dept., will pour out in an effort to prove that Glimco and some of his colleagues have run a business and not a union.

And apparently to the substantial profit of this man, who has been accused by crusading law officers' testimony under oath with being a friend of such enterprising goons as the late Murray, The Camel, Humphreys. He frightened himself to death the other week thus vacating the second-in-command position in the midland crime combine where he had been in charge of labor rackets since the IRS and FBI got Al Capone.

The intrepid IRS is asking for a modest $101,056.82 for the years 1956 and '57 from Local 777.

From Glimco the government seeks $145,000, at least, for back taxes on monies drawn from the union during 1954 and 1957.

Mr. Glimco's polite reply, firm as it is, stands in sharp contrast with his reaction to other adversaries. He, for example, once submitted to an NLRB directive to refrain from using violence or threats of violence during an organizing campaign.

As for the union itself, it has been held in contempt by the U.S. Court of Appeals for violating a consent decree not to use violence or threats of violence in an effort to win over several thousand Chicago hackies.

The Feb. 14 trials could be precedent-setting because the IRS, with microscopic devotion to duty and ethics, charges that the union has made certain payments to Mr. Glimco which he should have reported as income.

These include auto expenses, hotel tabs, part of the cost of attending the Teamsters' national convention.

There also is the matter of some $55,000 which the union had paid for legal, bond and investigative fees in behalf of Glimco.

Glimco, through his attorneys, has retorted that this money was authorized by the membership. Thus, if the IRS should win its four-year fight, it will establish that even the rank and file -- or as much of it as bothers to come out to meetings -- can't approve expenditure of the union's dues funds for the personal legal fees of its leaders.

And if the IRS is the victor, it also will set precedent against the payment of such items as "Christmas money" provided by the union to its officers as non-taxable income.

Furthermore, should the Service defeat Local 777's appeal against IRS, the government will set a precedent for action against labor organizations.

The Treasury Dept. will show that no union is automatically exempt from paying taxes, or from being treated as a corporation and thus being liable to taxation at a rate ranging from 22 percent to 48 percent, unless it acts in benefit to its members.

It is heartening to know that somebody cares, and that morality can triumph over muscle.

HOMEMAKERS ARE DEMANDING BIGGER HOMES, MORE BATHROOMS

The average home built in 1965 was over 10 percent larger than the one erected a decade ago, according to the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. This increase is almost certainly due to a demand for more bathrooms, larger kitchens and family rooms, in that order of importance, the Bureau says.

By Hildred Poole

Hello! Happy New Year! It just doesn't seem possible that this is already the start of a new year. I've always been told "the older you get the shorter the years seem" and I dread it when they get any shorter than they are now.

Very little league bowling was done this last week but was told I missed one very good score last time. Peggy Swacker had a series of over 600. Don't know her exact score but any one who bowls a 600 series is to be congratulated.

IMPERIALETTS

Crown 4/Progressive 0; A & B 3/DeLine 1; L & A 3/Belltones 1; Kroger 3/ Standard 1.

Frances Riesbeck, bowling for Belltones, had high game with a 202, and Ruth Ann Templeton, bowling for L & A, took high series with a 472. One highlight of the L & A team was the fact that three of the five girls bowled a 425 series. Darla Carter, Flora Crouthers, and Dot Meunier were the three.

ROYAL KEGLERS

Holyfield 4/ DebEllen 0; 1st. National Bank 4/ Mutual of Omaha 0; Pucketts 4/Busch 0; Lewis 3/Bank of Sikeston 1; Alcorn 3/ Ferrells 1.

Jean Lee was high again this week in the series department with a 554; but Mary Meyers with a 508 and Betty Estes with a 502 did some good bowling too. Betty Estes also had high game with 192.

DELTA KEGLERS

Liberty 3/ Potlatch 1; El Capri 2 1/2 / Ziegenhorn 1 1/2; Barketts 2/ Wades 2; Reiss 2/ Campbell Farms 2.

Brenda Boardman with about a 135 average really tore up the lanes Wednesday night with a big 223 game and a 568 series.

Rovina Ralph (Beanie) is scheduled to have some pretty serious surgery today. Beanie bowls on Tuesday morning and Wednesday night. So hurry up and get back on your feet and at least come out and visit us some Tuesday morning Beanie. We'll miss you!

Pretty Ham-Rice Dish Takes Fruit Duo for Interest

Ham never goes out of style because there are so many ways to serve it.

Though it comes to the holiday table as a whole or shank half, it can follow soon afterwards as an inch thick slice with fruit and rice, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Pretty pink frozen rhubarb makes a delectable combination with canned crushed pineapple to spread over the rice. Top with the ham slice and simply bake for an hour.

Ham Slice On Fruited Rice

- 1 smoked ham slice, cut 1-inch thick
- 2 cups cooked rice
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- 1 package (16 ounces) frozen rhubarb, thawed
- 1 can (8¾ ounces) crushed pineapple

Grease a 12 x 8-inch baking dish. Combine rice, celery, rhubarb and pineapple. Pour into baking dish. Place ham slice on top. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) 1 hour. 4 to 6 servings.

THIS DRAWING shows Fellowship Baptist Church, 228 Missouri Ave., following improvements to the educational facilities that were begun this week. Construction should be completed by March.

Improvements To Church Facilities Underway

Fellowship Baptist Church, 228 Missouri Ave., began construction this week on its educational facilities. The existing educational plant will be completely remodeled and renovated.

Rev. James Fitch, pastor of the church, states that the improvements will include several new and revolutionary ideas in religious educational facilities; the building will have carpeted floors and wood panel walls in all classrooms and hallways. The Rev. Mr. Fitch says that to his knowledge this is the first such use of these materials in Baptist educational facilities in Southeast Missouri and possibly the entire midwest United States. It signals a profound revolution in educational psychology and environment.

Construction is under way at present and should be completed by March this year.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I gave birth to my first child. When I awoke from the anesthetic my doctor was standing by the bed. He told me our little girl lived only ten minutes. He explained that she had a heart defect and if she had survived she would have been an invalid.

A person who has not experienced this tragedy cannot know what it is like to carry a child for nine months and come from the hospital with empty arms. I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy.

The same night my mother and two sisters came to see me. They said I should consider myself lucky that the baby didn't live. They said that to have an invalid child is the most terrible thing that can happen to a mother.

I loved that child and I would have loved her sick or well. What can I say to them when they talk crazy like that? Or am I the one who is crazy?—NEEDING ANSWERS

Dear Needing Answers: Your mother and sisters are attempting to comfort you. The ability to accept in life what you are powerless to change is one of the secrets of peace of mind.

Dear Ann Landers: That 17-year-old boy whose mother found 40 pictures of nude males under his mattress is hooked. No amount of family doctoring or friendly conseling is going to make any difference.

My father found my collection of nude males when I was 15. Two years of doctors and psychologists left me a nervous wreck. They tried to change something that isn't changeable. Finally, a college freshman counselor helped me accept the fact that being different isn't the same as being damned.

Today I'm a Ph.D. in physics. I work for a large industrial concern. The few people who know of my problem look at it the same way I look at someone who wears dentures -- different but still a satisfactory way to live.

The best thing Desperate Mother can do for her son is to leave him alone and help him cope with life as it is. -- ODD MAN OUT

Dear Odd Man: I have heard from thousands of homosexuals these past ten years and most of them are unhappy, frightened and lonely. They long to lead normal lives and ask me if psychiatry can help. I must tell them that the chances are slim. (The experts say less than 3 per cent)

I always recommend therapy, however, because while it might not produce a cure, it does help the homosexual to accept himself -- which is what your therapist did for you, whether you realize it or not.

Dear Ann Landers: A very fine young girl whom I will call Katherine babysits for us at least once a week. She is 16 years old. Our children adore her so please don't suggest that I engage someone else.

Katherine is deeply religious, which is admirable, but her religion is different from ours. My husband says Katherine may not know it, but she has a subconscious urge to convert people to her faith. She talks religion to our children every time she sits and they are becoming confused. Our 10-year-old boy wants to know how come he is told one thing in Sunday School and something else by Katherine. He says, "Both stories can't be true. One of them is wrong."

Please give us some help with this sticky problem.—THE BIG Q.

Dear Big Q: Tell Katherine she confuses your children when she discusses religion with them and that you would like to avoid the subject.

Your children should be told that Katherine's ideas on religion are fine for her but what they learn in Sunday School is what they should believe.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Modern pork cuts have 36% fewer calories than they formerly had. Part of this is due to the fact that a leaner type hog is being produced and marketed, giving most cuts 57% less fat than they had previously.

Average servings of cooked pork (3½ ounces) give an adult man 40% of his daily protein quota. At the same time he will also get 69% of his daily thiamine (vitamin B,) requirement. In spite of all this, he will have only taken less than eight per cent of his total calorie allowance!

Long Rakes Increases in Steel Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., today termed the steel price increase unjustified and a threat to the nation's economy.

"Price increases in steel will lead to price increases throughout business," Long said in a statement. "If the steel price increase stands it will mean dollars out of the pockets of every American consumer. It may also lead to increased imports of steel from foreign countries which will further deplete our gold reserves."

Alabama Number One in AP Poll

Alabama is the first team to win consecutive national titles since Oklahoma accomplished the feat in 1955 and 1956. 'Bama's two straight championships go with the 1961 title to make it three in five years for Bryant, who formerly coached at Texas A&M and Kentucky.

The three championships give Alabama permanent possession of the AP trophy, which goes to the first team to win three titles since the trophy has been up for competition. The trophy was put up for competition in 1957.

Another trophy will be put up next season.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc:

1.	Alabama (37)	9-1-	537
2.	Michigan S. (18)	10-1-	479
3.	Arkansas (1)	10-1-	413
4.	UCLA (1)	8-2-1	391
5.	Nebraska	10-1	358
6.	Missouri	8-2-1	260
7.	Tennessee	8-1-2	214
8.	Louisiana S.	8-3	149
9.	Notre Dame	7-2-1	123
10.	Southern Calif.	7-2-1	80

Duke and Kentucky Rated One and Two In AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, Providence, Texas Western and UCLA, each a winner of a holiday tournament last week, have gained considerable ground in the latest Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Duke remains a solid leader, while unbeaten Kentucky rushed up to take second place.

The Blue Devils from Durham, N.C., garnered 389 points, including 10 for each of the 34 first place votes they received in the balloting by a special panel of 42 regional experts.

Duke has won seven games in a row, including victories over Notre Dame and Wake Forest last week that lifted its record to 9-1.

Kentucky advanced from fifth to second after beating Notre Dame 103-69 for its eighth in a row. The Wildcats had five first-place votes and 299 points.

Vanderbilt is third. Then came St. Joseph's, Bradley, Providence, Iowa, Brigham Young, Texas Western and UCLA. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

Vanderbilt, the runner-up a week ago, slipped to third after losing to Southern California in the Los Angeles Classic. It was the Commodores' first loss of the season.

St. Joseph's, winners of the Quaker City Tournament, climbed from eighth to fourth. The Hawks are 9-2. Bradley fell two places to fifth after losing to Indiana. Providence, the ECAC Holiday Festival champion, jumped from 10th to sixth.

Iowa, loser to Texas Western in the Sun Bowl final, dropped from fourth to seventh. The triumph helped Texas Western, 10-0, move into the No. 9 spot. The Miners were unranked last week.

Brigham Young slipped two notches to eighth after losing for the first time, 71-69 to LaSalle. UCLA, the 1964-65 NCAA champion, moved back into the rankings. The Bruins took over 10th place after winning the Los Angeles Classic.

Michigan, No. 7 a week ago, and Minnesota, No. 9, dropped out of the Top Ten. The Wolverines have lost four games and the Gophers three.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, records through games of Saturday, Jan. 1, and total points on a 10-9-8-7, etc. basis:

1.	Duke (34) 9-1	389
2.	Kentucky (5) 8-0	299
3.	Vanderbilt (1) 10-1	260
4.	St. Joseph's, Pa. 9-2	197
5.	Bradley (1) 10-1	195
6.	Providence 8-1	186
7.	Iowa (1) 8-1	126
8.	Brigham Young 8-1	109
9.	Texas Western 10-0	57
10.	UCLA 7-3	47

Kentucky Over St. Louis 80-70

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A trip of city slickers from New York have brought schoolyard basketball to cowboy country and nobody at Texas Western minds the infiltration.

The Miners rolled to their 11th straight victory Monday night, whipping Tulsa 63-54 at El Paso, as 5-foot-6 Willie Worsley led the attack with 18 points.

Worsley, reserve forward Willie Cager, and 6-foot-7 Nevil Shed, who says he's an inch taller and is the club's second best scorer, all learned their basketball on concrete courts in New York.

The ninth-ranked Miners started slowly but opened a 13-point lead by halftime and then coasted the rest of the way.

Three other ranked teams including Kentucky, the only other undefeated club, also won Monday night.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats protected their No. 2 ranking with an 80-70 decision over St. Louis. Pat Riley and Louie Dampier paced Kentucky to its ninth straight, Riley scoring 24 and Dampier 20. Rich Parks led the visiting Billikens with 22.

Top-ranked Duke got 25 points from Jack Marin and 21 from Mike Lewis including 10 for 10 from the floor, and rapped Penn State 83-58, at Durham, N.C. The Nittany Lions, who won the Gator Bowl tourney last week, fell behind early and never recovered as Duke ran its record to 10-1.

Bradley, rated No. 5, scored its 11th victory in 12 starts with a 99-52 romp over St. Thomas of Minnesota. Ed Jackson with 21 points and Joe Allen with 20 led the Braves, who shot a sizzling 58 per cent on their home court at Peoria, Ill.

Dayton, 9-1, ripped Xavier 105-79 with sophomore Don May pumping in 45 points, second highest total in Flyer history. Henry Finkel, who scored 44 for Dayton last week, was held to nine, the second lowest total in his three-year varsity career.

Touring Syracuse ran into hot-shooting Creighton and bowed 103-87. Sophomore Wally Andersunas led the winners with 23 including 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Syracuse's Dave Bing, averaging 31 points, managed just 20.

Dorrie Murray grabbed 32 rebounds and Lou Hyatt hit 22 points as Detroit whipped visiting West Texas State 68-57. Junior Gee's 20-foot jump shot with 20 seconds to play gave Miami an 88-87 thriller over Utah at Miami, Fla.

In Big Eight conference openers, Kansas ripped visiting Colorado 69-55 with four men in double figures. Kansas State's 7-foot-1 Nick Pino hit 19 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as the Wildcats downed Missouri 78-59 at Columbia. Oklahoma took Oklahoma State 64-53 at Norman.

In Southeastern Conference openers, Tennessee took Tulane 64-46 at Knoxville and Florida nipped Alabama 56-53 at Gainsville, Fla.

Valley Teams Lose Two On Road

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri Valley conference teams took on the nation's two remaining undefeated major college basekt ball teams and lost twice, both on the road.

St. Louis was beaten 80-70 Monday night by second-ranked Kentucky, which made it nine straight. Tulsa took on 9th-ranked Texas Western at El Paso and lost 63-54. It was Western's 11th straight.

Bradley was the only Valley winner Monday night. The fifth-ranked Braves made their record 11-1 by drubbing outclassed St. Thomas of Minnesota 99-52 at Peoria.

North Texas took its fifth defeat in its last six games, losing 88-81 to a shorter but hot-shooting South Dakota State club at Brookings, S.D.

The losing night left the Valley with a still-impressive 57-22 won - lost record this season against outside opposition, 12-16 on the road.

Rich Parks with 22 points led St. Louis, which was never closer than 66-60 in the last half. Tulsa, now 10-3 for the season, couldn't stop Western's pint-sized backliners, 5-foot-6 Willie Worsley and 5-10 Bobby Joe Hill and fell 13 points behind at halftime.

Wichita's Jamie Thompson stayed on top in individual scoring with a 23.4 average with Bradley's Joe Allen next at 21.6. Westley Unseld of Louisville has 20.3, Ron Rolfes of Cincinnati 18.4, Bob Netolicky of Drake 18.2, Roland West of Cincy 16.8, Melvin Reed of Wichita 16.6, Willie Davis of North Texas 16.5 and Dale Abshire of North Texas 16.3.

Unseld is the rebound leader with a 20.7 average. Bradley's Alex McNutt leads in field goal shooting at .672 and Gene Demaree of Tulsa in free throwing at .964 although missing for the first time Monday.

The Valley race resumes Thursday night with Wichita at Bradley, Cincy at North Texas, Drake at St. Louis and Louisville at Tulsa.

Football Cards Sign Four Draft Choices

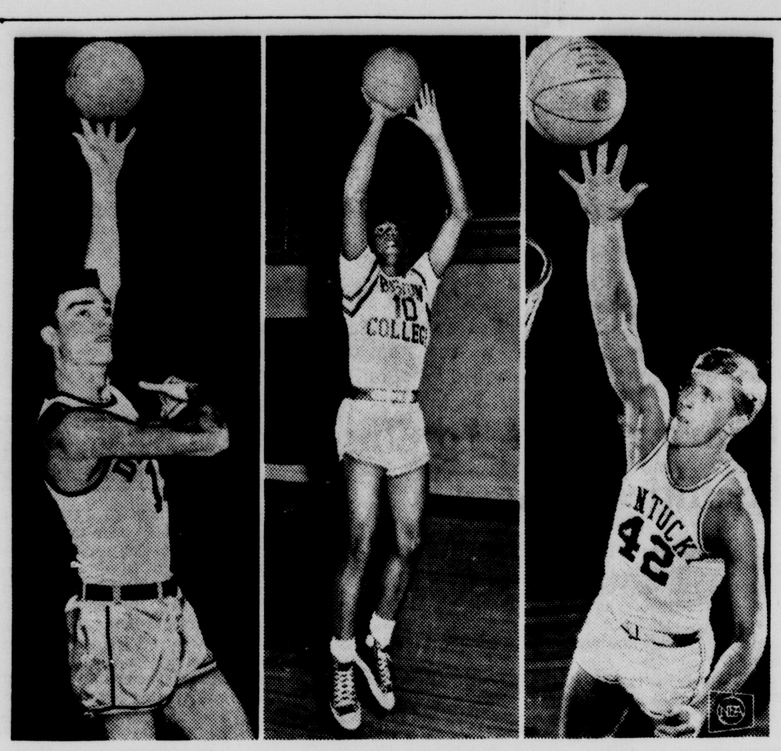

ST. LOUIS AP -- The St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League announced today the signing of four draft choices, including Roy Shivers, the nation's fourth best rusher.

The other three, all from the Big Eight Conference, were Mike Ringer, 10th round, a defensive back from Oklahoma; Jim Brown, 13th round, Nebraska tackle, and Dick Kasperek, 16th round, center from Iowa State.

Shivers, 6 feet, 200 pounds, was picked last year as a two-year future from Utah State. He gained 1,138 yards on 189 carries for a six-yard average and 16 touchdowns.

Character is much easier kept than recovered.

Alabama Quarter back Steve Sloan, Nursing Sore Ribs

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan, nursing some sore ribs bruised during his Orange Bowl appearance, was expected to practice today with the South All-Stars for Saturday's annual Senior Bowl football game.

Sloan, who shattered all-time Alabama passing records and a couple of Orange Bowl marks too, was examined by the Senior Bowl physician Monday after he and three other Crimson Tide players arrived from Miami.

The South All-Stars ran through their first practice sessions Monday, with the quarterback chores being handled by Randy Johnson of Texas A&I. Johnson spurred the South to a victory in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery on Christmas Day.

The North Stars also worked out, suiting up in sweat clothes for a session. Tulsa's Bill Anderson directed the North offensive unit. With him in the backfield were Bob Daughtery of Tulsa, Don Kunit of Penn State and Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State.

The Rebels are being coached by Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets of the AFL. Head coach for the North is Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots.

Springfield and Kirksville Win Easily

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Bears and Kirksville Bulldogs won easy basketball victories with hot shooting over nonconference teams Monday night.

The Bears shot nearly 50 per cent in beating Oklahoma Christian 100-51 at Springfield. Jim Gant led the charge with 25 points and Dan Bolden added 19. Springfield has a 10-1 record, Christian 7-7.

The Bulldogs sank 24 of 28 free throws and defeated Parsons College of Iowa 78-64 at Kirksville. The halftime score was 34-34, then Kirksville went 18-18 at the free throw line in the second half and that was too much for the Iowans.

Dave Taylor led the Bulldogs with 20 points, 10 of them on free throws.

Stetson defeated Washington of St. Louis 85-60 in the Hatters tournament at Deland, Fla.

Bulldogs Busy At Home

Sikeston will have a tough second half, as they play some of the area's top ten teams.

Two successvie home games face the Bulldogs this week, as Coach Gene Dawson struggles to get his team back in the SEMO area division race.

Thursday night at the Armory, the Bulldogs will face the Scott Central Braves. The Bulldogs will also be at the armory Saturday night to play the Kennett Indians.

On Tuesday night of next week the Bulldogs take to the road and travel to Caruthersville. The Bulldogs lost their last outing before the holiday rest, and will try to regain their winning ways Thursday night at the armory.

Cards Reported To Have Signed Johnny Rowland

ST. LOUIS AP -- Two newspapers have reported that the St. Louis Cardinals paid more than $600,000 to outbid American Football League clubs for two players the Cardinals announced they signed Sunday.

The St. Louis Globe - Democrat said the Cardinals signed Missouri halfback Johny Roland to a three-year, no-cut contract in which he reportedly will receive more than $300,000, including bonuses.

The Detroit Free Press said Michigan State defensive tackle Harold Lucas was signed on a five - year, no - cut basis calling for an estimated $325,000.

The National Football league Cardinals did not disclose the terms.

Roland was the No. 1 future choice of the New York Jets of the AFL in 1964 and Lucas was chosen second by the Cardinals and was first draft choice of the Boston Patriots of the AFL last year.

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. AP --The daily double for the first night of harness racing at Pompano Park for 1966 was 6-6 Monday night.

Sherry Dares won the first race as an outsider at $21.80 while the favored Maverick Grattan took the second at $5.40.

The unusual daily double payoff was worth $76.20.

Horse Sense—and the Mustang Six

I don't know much about engines.
If mine's smooth, powerful and gives great gas mileage, I'm satisfied.
That's why I got a Mustang Six.

You don't have to be an engineer to appreciate the Mustang Six. Just get comfortable in one of those deep-foam bucket seats, fire up that husky 200-cu. in. powerplant . . . and let yourself go.

Nor do you have to be an investment banker to realize you've made a great buy. Standard Mustang Six luxury includes: all vinyl upholstery; plush wall-to-wall carpeting; padded instrument panel and many other extras at no extra cost.

Sound sweet? Mustang makes lots of nice sounds. Optional stereo-sonic tape is one. Another is money jingling in your pocket, thanks to Mustang Six's meager appetite for gasoline.

See for yourself. Stop in at your Ford Dealer's and test-drive America's runaway success car.

THE Outlook for Business

Harmon S. Eberhard
Chairman of the Board
Caterpillar Tractor Co.

CONSTRUCTION MACHINERY INDUSTRY

Sales of construction machinery during 1965 gained 12 per cent over 1964, continuing the year-to-year gains which have been enjoyed since 1962. Sales during the first half of 1966 are expected to remain at the current high level. Dealers' inventories are now lower than desired for the volume of business in prospect, and efforts to rebuild dealer stocks, along with heavy requirements of contractors during the spring months, will cause over-all demand to remain high.

Highway construction, the most important market for heavy equipment, is expected to increase 5 per cent during 1966 over the favorable 1965 level. Interstate System mileage open to traffic passed the 20,000 mile mark in October. More than 6,000 miles are under construction, and preliminary engineering has been completed on all but 8 per cent of the proposed 41,000 mile system. The Bureau of Public Roads is confident that funds can be raised to assure completion of the Interstate System on schedule at the end of 1972.

Development of our water resources will create increased demand for construction machinery. The Columbia River project will move ahead with a start on the Libby Dam in Montana. Among the contracts expected to reach the bid stage within the next several months are those for the Mica Dam, largest of the three dams on the Canadian side of the Columbia River; the $115 million New Bullards Bar Dam in the Yuba River project in California; the $282 million Auburn Dam in California; and the proposed Cochiti Dam in New Mexico.

Water shortages in the Northeast have accelerated planning in that area, and a study of the water needs of the New England states won House approval during the last session of Congress. Water resource development is one of the dynamic markets for construction machinery, and during 1966, expenditures on dam and other water projects are expected to increase by 5 per cent over 1965.

Surveys made late in the year indicate an 8 per cent rise in capital spending is in prospect next year over the record level of 1965. Businessmen are planning to spend $55 billion on new plant and equipment during 1966, and most of the $4 billion increase will occur during the first half of the year. The rate of increase in anticipated expenditures for office buildings, stores and shopping centers, and educational buildings will generally exceed that for new plant facilities. Equipment used in demolition and in site development work will be in strong demand during the first half of the year.

Defense spending eased in the first half of 1965, but supplementary appropriations may add $5 billion to expenditures before the end of this fiscal year on next June 30. Other federal programs, including space outlays, have increased about 10 per cent in each of the last two fiscal years and are expected to continue to rise in 1966.

Housing stars remained about level during 1965 at 1.5 million units. This volume of homebuilding appears low relative to income levels and the rate of family formation. An increase in residential building is probable by midyear for single unit houses and apartments.

Sales of construction machinery outside the United States increased during 1965 as manufacturers were better able to supply customer needs. Earnings of the raw material producing countries are holding up well, increasing the ability of these countries to add much needed development tools. The high level of business in the United States and, for the most part, in Western Europe has yielded generally favorable prices for metals and fibers. The sales level of construction equipment in the countries dependent on these commodities, such as those in Africa and Australia, has been correspondingly good. Food commodity prices have declined steadily which has severely limited the ability of Latin American countries to import capital goods. Several important loans have been made by the World Bank which will support construction machinery sales during the first half of 1966. With World Bank aid, Japan will spend $84 million on an expressway in Kobe. Peru has received foreign assistance for a $56 million addition to the Trans-Andean Highway.

In summary, the demand for construction machinery is expected to remain strong to meet the needs of busy highway, water resource, industrial plant, and other builders during the first half of 1966. Heavy equipment dealers throughout the world are generally low on inventory, and they will attempt to build stocks during the early months of the year. All of these forces acting together spell good business for manufacturers in the months immediately ahead.

Ho Chi Minh Holds Key to Peace Bids

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The key to success or failure of Viet Nam peace bids may rest in the fragile hands of an ancient revolutionary caught in the titanic struggle for power between the world's two Communist giants.

Ho Chi Minh at 75 has had half a century of tumultuous activity in the cause of international communism as a tactician of revolution. Today "Uncle Ho," as president of North Viet Nam, confronts a situation that may seem insoluble.

As an internationalist, Ho probably is inclined to follow Moscow's lead. That might mean making the best of a dangerous situation and waiting patiently for a better opportunity.

But Ho has a huge neighbor on his northern frontier: Red China. Legendary though he may be as the architect of revolution in the Orient, Ho seems captive of a majority faction of his own politburo which follows Peking's lead.

The paradoxical Ho, a poetic, mandarin-like figure who, despite his violent career always seemed a believer in the easiest and least bloody way to power, appears to be boxed in.

The pro-Chinese faction in Hanoi is headed by Truong Chinh, chairman of the North Viet Nam National Assembly. Truong Chinh's name means "long march." His original name was Dang Xuan Khu, but he changed it after taking part in the historic march of Mao's forces in the Communist war for domination of the China mainland.

The pro-Chinese faction evidently took over in Hanoi last April in a sudden shakeup of the North Vietnamese Communist hierarchy. The dominant faction evidently subscribes to the Chinese formula of violent "people's war" as the only effective road to world communism."

From time to time there had been evidence that Ho was willing to listen to some sort of formula to end the bloodletting.

Viet Nam faces the dubious choice of progressive destruction from U. S. bombing or massive influx of Chinese who could forever kill off any trace of Vietnamese independence.

But Ho does not appear to be a free agent. His current statements reflect the granite-hard line. They also reflect the Soviet-Chinese struggle.

Moscow is sending the No. 2 man of the Soviet Communist party, Alexander N. Shelepin, to Hanoi. His mission undoubtedly is to make Soviet influence paramount. If he is successful, that could lead eventually to some sort of accommodation with the United States, since the U.S.S.R. must regard the Southeast Asia situation as highly dangerous and certainly as one which stands in the way of a Soviet ambition to build up the U.S.S.R.'s internal economy.

The Soviet thrust will not go uncontested. Red China attacks Moscow with renewed fury. The official newspaper People's Daily accuses the Russians of "behind - scenes bargaining" with the Americans on Viet Nam.

Peking has suffered serious diplomatic and political reverses in 1965. It makes clear it wants the war in Viet Nam to continue. The war offers a prospect of bleeding and weakening the United States, and it has become a club with which Peking can attempt to beat the Russians out of the camp of militant revolutionaries.

Evidently content with a longer - range view of revolution which might be less dangerous to Soviet security, the Russians are promising North Viet Nam massive economic, technical and military aid which the Chinese cannot match.

As of this moment, the pro-Chinese faction apparently remains in control in Hanoi, and seems to have dominant influence over the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front. It broadcasts that its position on negotiations is "firmer than ever" because "we are stronger than ever."

The world danger in Southeast Asia is obvious, especially to a Soviet regime which could be drawn into it and into a confrontation with the Americans.

The Russians will concentrate attention on March 29, the opening of the 23rd Soviet Communist Party Congress. There, the Soviet leadership is expected to reaffirm practically every policy developed since 1956. When this happens, the break with China will be just about unbridgeable. The Russians hope to have the North Viet Nam party and most others of importance on their side in the world Communist dispute.

Then the ancient who is the father figure of revolution in the Orient, Ho Chi Minh, may be better able to come forward with some sort of offer which could end the Viet Nam fighting.

Wallace Says Wife Would Win Election

MONTGOMERY, Ala. AP -- "If Lurleen runs," said husband George C. Wallace, "she'll win."

And, the governor of Alabama added, "I'll campaign for her. We'll probably campaign together."

He hastily emphasized that no decision has been made on whether his attractive wife, 39, will be a candidate next year to succeed him. But he made no attempt to discourage the speculation.

Wallace also left unanswered in an interview the equally pertinent question of his own political future -- whether he plans to run for the U.S. Senate in the Democratic primary next May or return to private life.

"I'm looking forward to the culmination of our educational program and the development of new industry," he said.

"We anticipate a surplus of $75 million in the treasury at the end of my administration. We are closing the gap in our program of providing the best educational facilities possible for both races."

The latter was his only reference to Alabama's racial problems, which in the months gone by had made him an international figure.

He talked mostly about the financial condition of the state, the achievements in education and the development of a new network of junior colleges and trade schools, and the absence of even whispers of a major scandal in his administration.

And he talked eagerly about Mrs. Wallace. "Almost all of the radio- polls we have heard about show her leading. Everywhere we go, the people say, 'Governor, we're with you. We'll support your wife if she runs'."

"She has saved the state thousands of dollars by doing away with catering services and doing her own catering when she entertains at the mansion," Wallace continued. "She believes the mansion belongs to the people, and she has entertained more visitors than anyone ever did before — women's clubs, PTA groups, things like that."

Since the governor first let the word out, many weeks ago, that Mrs. Wallace might run, she has been his constant companion in his frequent public appearances.

But an operation for an undisclosed ailment put her in a hospital last November and left her facing still more surgery in the weeks ahead. "It's nothing of a major nature," the governor emphasized. "Her health is all right. She wouldn't think about making a race for governor unless her health was 100 per cent."

Just what does she think about the possibility of running for office?

"We have talked about it," Wallace conceded. "If she runs, I'll campaign for her. But she will get out and meet the people. We'll probably campaign together. And if she gets elected, I'll be her chief adviser. She knows that every governor has to have advisers."

Who would make the decisions if there were a disagreement between husband and wife on matters of state?

"There wouldn't be ay problem there," the governor said, with assurance. "That poblem wouldn't even come up."

The way history is taught in school today, it's almost as fresh as yesterday's front page. If you had kept a file of the paper for last year and the year before that, your youngster would have a head start towards honors in current events.

You can do still better than that.

By obtaining a copy of THE WORLD IN 1965 — and, if you didn't get one already, of THE WORLD IN 1964—you can provide him with an educational tool that will set him apart.

No dry-as-dust yearbook, THE WORLD IN 1965 contains all the facts but recounts in dramatic, telling detail the big events, the interesting events, the significant events, of the year. The quality of the hundreds of news photos, in color and black and white, rivals that of the text.

This big, 288-page, handsome book, costing only $3, has been prepared by the world's foremost news gathering agency, The Associated Press, which cooperates with this newspaper in supplying you with the news of the nation and the world.

To obtain your copy of THE WORLD IN 1965, fill out and mail the coupon at once. The book will be ready in February.

Blegen Wins Archaeological Gold Medal

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dr. Carl William Blegen, excavator of Troy and the Palace of Nestor at Pylos has won the Archaeological Institute of America's first gold medal for distinguished archaeological achievement.

Dr. Blegen, now residing in Athens, Greece, is professor emeritus of classical archaeology at the University of Cincinnati.

NEW YORK (AP) — More than $3 billion worth of airliners have been ordered by U.S. airlines for delivery in 1966, the Air Transport Association says. The amount is three times that of 1965 and includes 240 jets.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roy Franklin Nichols, dean of the University of Pennsylvania's graduate school of arts and sciences, has been elected president of the American Historical Association. He succeeds Dr. Frederick C. Lane, professor of history at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

LONDON (AP) — The number of murders in Britain during 1965 is expected to exceed 200 - - the highest figure since records were kept. This has been an extremely violent Christmas season in Britain, with a dozen murders in eight days -- four of them in London.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — A young Hopi Indian left blank one question in filling out a work application form.

His future employer repeated it: "Do you speak a foreign language?"

"Yes," the Indian answered. "English."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rolla, Mo.
Dec. 31, 1965

Hon. Richard Ichord
Congressman, 8th Mo.
Armed Services Comm.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Dick,

Having returned from the Pacific cruise on the missile-launching destroyer--which you helped arrange for me--I have reached some conclusions which I would like to pass on to your important committee in the House.

These conclusions are also formed from my previous military and private trips to Europe, Puerto Rico, and Alaska.

I am firmly convinced that we are not waging the war against Communism in Viet Nam, Cuba and many other parts of the world with the strength and thoroughness befitting a strong democracy. And one of the reasons for this is the inherent weakness in the up-and-down strength, taken over the years, of our Armed Forces.

For one thing, we depend too much on "dollar diplomacy" abroad, and when that doesn't work, we must rely on our Armed Forces, which are not CONTINUING and PERMANENT and PROFESSIONAL forces, because the enlistments and personnel change so much because they are so poorly paid, compared to our civilians which the Armed Forces are sworn to protect!

As I said in my articles written while on the Pacific, I honestly believe that the pay of the Armed Forces, particularly the lower grades, should be DOUBLED in order to encourage enlistments of young men who really want to make a career of the Armed Forces. Then, instead of losing good trainees and officers who have proven themselves, after their initial training and educational programs, they would elect to stay in the ARMED FORCES, where during peacetimes (and there are SOME peaceful times, if intermittently) they could be given thorough and complete educational advantages.

I truly believe that the extra cost of such a "professional" Armed Services could be gotten from savings by reducing losses of trained personnel to private industry, and if not entirely from that, then from more careful application of our "dollar diplomacy" abroad!

How can we expect our men in service to continue with enthusiasm when (as I noted on the USS Buchanan) the gunner's mate was drawing $35 a week and a young man at the steam throttle of that $50 million fighting ship pocketed only $17 from his two-weeks pay?...

Isn't it a little ridiculous when our fighting men are paid like that when we pay the pinks and goons who have dodged the draft and are now drawing $250.00 monthly in the "poverty camps"? ? ?

Isn't it also discouraging to them to learn that we allow $100 monthly to the Cubans who are running away from their internal battle with Castro? Do these conditions make sense to them? How can they put their hearts into the fight when they know back home businesses and individuals are profiting from a "war economy" during an undeclared war, unfettered by war-time austerity measures--wage and price controls and rationing?

I have talked to many about these conditions, not only men in service, but men on the home front. It all seems clear to them, but apparently not to our leaders in high places. Would you place these thoughts before your important House committee, for more informed and strategically-placed minds to consider during the Congress ahead?

Yours truly,
Edward W. Sowers

HEATING THE BASEMENT FAMILY ROOM CAN BE EASY

If you've spent part of last summer turning your basement into a family room which now turns out to be too cold for comfort, don't be discouraged. There are several things you can do, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

If you have a hydronic (hot water) heating system, your heating contractor can use your existing boiler to supply heat to the room via easily installed baseboard radiation. If your system isn't hydronic, you can still install a self-contained system in the family room. It consists of an extremely compact boiler no larger than a tv set, a pump for circulating the hot water through the baseboard and a thermostat.

Hydronic heat offers clean even heat from floor to ceiling.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

"CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION" SUPPORTS AMENDMENT NO. 3

Will the January 14 special election be the last time the voters of Missouri will be able to have a hand in the redistricting of their State House of Representatives? Governor Warren E. Hearnes seems to think so and he and other proponents of Amendment No. 3 are waging what they call a "campaign of education" to garner support for its passage.

This campaign may include a series of television appearances by the Governor during the last 10 days before the election. This active support for the proposed amendment will mark a different stance for the Governor, who -- with some misgivings -- publicly supported Amendment No. 3 last August, but only because he felt it represented a majority will. Now he's giving the present amendment whatever support is within his power as an individual because he feels the proposal is an acceptable one.

The "campaign of education" which the Governor and members of his staff and others are supporting centers around two main points:

First, say Amendment proponents, a vote against No. 3 is not a vote against the theory or concept of reapportionment.

Second, by the time of the election, the federal court order to reapportion the House will be 13 months old.

"It's not reasonable to assume that the federal court will delay any longer," said the Governor's Press Secretary Will Davis, who has been speaking on behalf of the amendment in the state.

Davis pointed out that the only date mentioned by the federal court to reapportion the House was June 30, 1965 -- the end of the regular session. At that time, the first amendment has been proposed but it was defeated at the polls on Aug. 17.

After Amendment No. 3 was beaten in August, Davis said, the court waited for an alternative -- which would be acceptable to the court, as well as to the people -- to come out of the special session called by Governor Hearnes.

Now, the court will wait until Jan. 14, Davis says, who thinks the patience of the court must surely be about at an end.

"People who say the court will give more time on this are forgetting a guiding statute," Davis explained. "Anyone who wants to file for a House seat has until the last Tuesday in April: April 26."

Even if Amendment No. 3 passes, the commission it sets up won't be effective for 30 days (as a Constitutional Amendment), which puts the date in mid-February.

The time element also is involved in the five-day limit in which district committees must meet and present their panels to the Governor, who will have another 5 days in which to select Commission members from the panels. The Commission, in turn, will have about 40 days in which to do their work, which will take until about April 10.

"We feel that if the voters understand what is involved," Davis said, "they will pass the Amendment for their own good and the good of the state."

House members have a stake in this proposal and have shown a degree of enthusiasm, Davis added. "We assume and hope they're working for this in their home districts;" Davis said, "otherwise, they may wake up and find themselves running at large. Then they'd want to turn the clock back and do something about it."

'TERRIFIC RESPONSE' FOR VOTING LAWS CHANGES

There has been a "terrific response" to Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick's drive for a study and modernization of Missouri's election laws.

The next step, according to Kirkpatrick, will be to wait for recommendations from the preliminary study research being conducted by members of the political science department at the University of Missouri. "If they feel there is basis for an in-depth study," Kirkpatrick said, "we'll seek financing for an impartial, non-political research project."

Such an in-depth study would be the basis for "a complete overhaul -- not like the patchwork which has been done before," according to the Secretary.

Literary Criticism Books Available

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Riverside regional library received this week from the SEMO Federated Library Service system volumes in the Twayne literary criticism series. Subjects of these volumes include: Carl Sandburg, Louis Bromfield, Robert Sherwood, William Vaughn Moody, William Dean Howells, Walt Whitman, Nathaniel Hawthorne, John Steinbeck, James Michener, Eugene O'Neill, Sinclair Lewis, and many other famous writers. Another new title is "A Style Manual for Authors" by Edward Seeber.

Cape Airport Bonds Pass

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Cape Girardeau's $880,000 municipal airport bond issue was passed with 32 votes to spare, tabulation of absentee ballots showed.

With 178 of 214 absentee voters casting ballots in support of the $880,000 proposal, the final tally was 3,690 votes in favor and 1,797 votes opposed.

At the end of regular balloting Tuesday, the count was 3,512 in favor and 1,761 opposed, four votes short of the two-thirds majority needed.

Twice previously, airport bond issues had failed. On Nov. 23, an identical issue was narrowly defeated and in February, 1964, a larger issue was soundly beaten.

White House Wit

John Adams
President, 1797-1801

In a letter to Abigail Adams, John Adams wrote:

"My country has, in its wisdom, contrived for me the most insignificant office (the vice presidency) that ever the invention of man contrived or his imagination conceived."

During their courtship, John Adams brought Abigail Smith a letter ordering her to "give the bearer as many kisses and as many hours of your company after six o'clock as he shall please to demand and charge them to my account. I presume," he added, "I have a good right to draw upon you for the kisses, as I have given two or three millions at least, where one has been received, and of consequence the account between us is immensely in favour of yours, John Adams."

When Congress finally voted to increase the U. S. Navy, John Adams wrote to a friend:

"Oh! the wisdom, the foresight and the hindsight and the rightsight and the leftsight, the northsight and the southsight, and the eastsight and the westsight that appeared in that august assembly."

John Adams was fascinated by Benjamin Rush's book on mental disease and he wrote a note to Dr. Rush saying:

"It proved us all to be a little cracked."

Today In U.S. History

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 4, the fourth day of 1966. There are 361 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1896, Utah was admitted to the Union as the 45th state.

On this date

In 1790, George Washington issued the first annual presidential message.

In 1838, the famous midget, Tom Thumb, was born in Bridgeport, Conn.

In 1921, the Rockefeller Foundation announced that yellow fever had been wiped out in Ecuador.

In 1936, the Nazis ordered military training for children in Germany.

In 1946, Gen. Douglas MacArthur invited 39 leading American educators to help set up a democratic school system in Japan.

Ten years ago — The first train on the new railroad between Peking and Moscow left Peking.

Five years ago—U.S. government expressed hope that the break in diplomatic relations with Cuba will spur the Organization of American States to take action soon to quarantine the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

One year ago — President Johnson — in his State of the Union message—issued an invitation to the Soviet Union's new leaders to visit the United States.

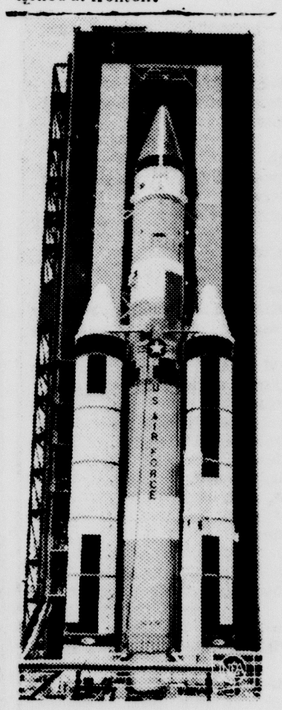

Assign Duty To Patrolmen

POPLAR BLUFF -- Four new highway patrolmen have been assigned to the troop E area which includes 14 counties in Southeast Missouri.

The men will begin duty Jan. 3. They graduated Dec. 23 from the 10-week highway patrol academy at Rolla.

Assignments include Arthur G. Collier, a native of Mississippi County, assigned to Dexter; Lowell E. Cox, a former employe of the Highway Department at Sikeston, stationed at Kennett; Norris R. Grissom, a Steele native, assigned to Charleston, and Benny R. Hinton, a former member of the Cape Girardeau Police Department, stationed at Ironton.

FOUR-IN-ONE—An experimental four-in-one satellite package to be launched from Cape Kennedy aboard a three-stage Titan 3C rocket includes a Christmas present for ham radio operators. One of the four satellites to be placed in stationary orbit at 20,000 miles from earth will provide relay channels for radio hams. Built by space engineers who also happen to be hams, the satellite's speed and orbit will keep it at roughly the same spot above the earth to permit signal relaying 24 hours a day.

Roast or Braise?

Can beef rump or sirloin tip be roasted? Some of these large cuts can be and often are sold as roasts for oven or rotisserie. This may be confusing since they're cooked by roasting or braising depending upon the tenderness of the cut.

It's difficult for Mrs. Homemaker to decide this before cooking although grade or quality is a guide. Sometimes when one of these cuts is roasted it might give more eating satisfaction if it had been braised.

If she prefers to roast either beef rump or sirloin tip, a good rule is to cook and serve the meat rare (actually, if the internal temperature registers 150°F., this is regarded favorably). Serve thinly sliced.

Each of these procedures favorably affects the tenderness impression.

THE PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. (Matthew 7:7)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, Thou hast called us for fellowship with Thee. May our door be open that we may sup with Thee and Thou with us. Make our homes Thine abode. Wherever we go, may our hearts be ever Thy temple. In the name of Jesus. Amen.

The oil industry has spent more than $400 million in exploration and development in Alaska, with gross value of production realized for the companies so far only $110 million.

OUR 56TH YEAR | 10¢ PER COPY | SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1966 | NUMBER 84

Delay Action Bids

In the first city council meeting of the new year five bids were received for the installation of a 10,000 kilovolt amperes power transformer for the board of public works. None were accepted.

Raymert Miller, city manager, requested the council to allow Herb Phelps, manager of the BOPW, and him three days to study the bids more thoroughly. The meeting was held last night in the city administration building.

The lowest bid was $51,100 from the Maloney Electric Company, St. Louis.

The highest bid was $54,722 from General Electric Supply Company, Cape Girardeau.

Allis-Chalmers, St. Louis, bid $54,000, Westinghouse Electric Supply Company, St. Louis, $54,500 and Pennsylvania Transformer Division, St. Louis, $53,030.

W. C. Mulcahy, Benton, Scott County Health officer, appeared before the council with information about a proposed new ordinance for eating and drinking establishments.

He informed the council that the city was now operating under an ordinance drawn up in 1943.

"This new ordinance is for changing and upgrading eating and drinking establishments in the city," he said.

"The number one effect will be that I and other health inspectors can enter private organizations to make inspections. We are mainly concerned with church suppers.

"Also, the temperatures in freezers will be lowered from a required 50 degrees to 45 degrees.

"The state recommends that we adopt this new ordinance."

He said that Jackson is the only neighboring city having it.

Miller informed the council that the new signs allowing right turns on red signal lights in the city are aiding the flow of traffic.

He also informed it that pedestrians have the right of way when the right turn signs are being used.

Miller told the council about plans to widen Center, New Madrid, Scott, Kingshighway and Gladys streets this year.

He told the city council that he and Harold Vogel, public schools administrative assistant, may go to Jefferson City this month in behalf of a new civic center for the city.

Give Food Baskets

President Lucien Stoner reported at the Rotary club meeting last night that he and Allan Hubbard delivered five Rotary food baskets to Sikeston needy at Christmas. The baskets provided food for 42 persons, he said.

James Green asked the club to nominate a young man for the annual Jaycee distinguished service award.

Donation of $10 for a Rotary youth project by Lloyd Ogan of Trenton, former member of the Sikeston club, was announced.

Chip Schmerbauch announced that he would make a strip film about the Rotarian magazine available to the Morley Rotary club.

A recorded speech by Dr. John Furbay, Trans World Airlines executive and world traveler, will be next Monday's night program. It will be provided by John Kuehle.

Don Bohannon distributed the remainder of the Christmas gifts from overseas for Rotary club members' wives. Max Smotherman led the singing. Mary Ann Bruce accompanied at the piano.

Recreational Center for 75

MINGO -- Sikeston has been designated as the official recreational outlet for more than 75 students in the job corps at the Mingo National Wildlife Refuge it was announced today by Robert Hickey, camp director.

He said the students are brought over here for movies and other activities.

Students participating in the job corps are from impoverished families and are between 16 and 21 years of age and in need of a basic education and a job.

Hickey said that training is being given in mathematics, reading and vocations.

The camp has been in operation since Nov. 17.

Order Given Quill

NEW YORK (AP) — A state court judge told Michael J. Quill, head of the striking transit workers, to get the city's buses and subways running again today or go to jail.

In any case the day holds another harrowing experience for the 3.5 million New Yorkers who have to get to work.

For them it means a second day of traffic jams, packed railroad terminals, lost business, missed sleep and ragged nerves.

Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller found Quill and eight other union officials guilty of civil contempt Monday in ordering the 34,400 transit employes off the job New Year's Day in defiance of a court injunction.

Report Two Breakins

Police reported today two more burglaries that happened during the holiday weekend.

Entry was made through a skylight atop the J. C. Penney store and the soft drink machine was broken into.

An inventory is being made to see if anything else has been taken.

The Mitchell - Sharp Motor Company reported that their establishment was entered through a bathroom window and their soft drink machine was rifled. Nothing else was reported missing.

564 Killed In Traffic

CHICAGO AP -- Traffic accidents killed 564 persons during the 78-hour New Year's weekend, the second consecutive record established during the year-end holiday.

The 720 persons killed during the three - day Christmas observance brought the total number of deaths for the two holiday weekends to 1,284. The Christmas toll was an all-time high for any holiday period.

The New Year's total wiped out the record established for the turn-of-the-year holiday weekend in 1964-65 when 474 persons perished in motor vehicle accidents. The lowest toll for a New Year's weekend was 269 during the 78-hour period in 1949-50.

Police Chief Arthur Bruce was admitted for a checkup and treatment of a cold.

Hackney Faces Charge

NEW MADRID -- Following a coroner's inquest yesterday at 2 p.m., Forrest Hackney, 50, was charged with murder in the shooting of Billy Gray, 27, Friday night.

The action was taken by Prosecuting Attorney Hal Hunter.

Hackney's bond was placed at $10,000. He is being held in the county jail.

The shooting took place at the Hackney home, after the two men went to the Hackney home to discuss the sale of a hog, inquest testimony related. In was followed by an argument as to who would take Gray home.

Mrs. Pearl Gray and her 14-year-old son were in the Hackney home at the time. They went outside when they heard a shot fired and did not see the shooting, officers reported.

Hackney and Gray had come from a Marston tavern earlier in the evening, where they had been drinking, authorities said.

Gray had come to Marston from St. Louis, where he had been employed, to attend a funeral.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner Leo Hedgepeth.

Illinois Man Fined $127

Ten persons faced charges this morning in magistrate court before Judge John Hux.

Billy Kirk, Rochelle, Ill., was fined $111 for driving while intoxicated and $16 for operating a motor vehicle while violating a restriction on his operator's license that does not allow him to drive while under the influence of alcoholic beverages.

Patsy Brown, 909 S. Prairie, was fined $16 for operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

Marion Brent, 817 Pine, had a charge of non-support continued.

Mildred Eifert, Bertrand, was fined $17.50 for speeding.

Roger Kenser, route four, was fined $21 for speeding.

Ann Samon, Charleston, was fined $21 for speeding.

Boom Believed To Be Sonic

Sikeston was jarred at 7:11 p.m. last night by what sounded like an explosion.

It was believed to be a sonic boom. The Blytheville, Ark., air force base reported that one plane was in the area that might have broken the sound barrier.

Negro Shooting In New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- Billy Gray, 26, and Robert Taylor, 24, both colored were involved in a shooting affray at the home of Gray.

Taylor, according to the sheriff's office, stated he caught his wife and Gray at Gray's home, which led to the shooting around 7 p.m. New Year's eve.

Gray was shot in the hand and groin with a 16-gauge shotgun. A portion of Gray's hand was severed.

The two men lived in the same neighborhood.

Taylor made bond of $2,500 and has been released from the county jail.

24 Arrested For Drinking

Arthur Bruce, chief of police, reported that police arrested 24 persons for being drunk during December.

Fines totaled $1,395.

Thirty three were arrested for careless driving.

Twelve persons were charged with disturbing the peace; 12 with assault and 22 were turned over to state authorities.

Sailor Sees World Much Too Slowly

EAST PRAIRIE -- Harold D. Green, the 17-year-old East Prairie sailor who threatened to jump from a California building, joined the navy but was unhappy because he didn't see the world fast enough.

Mrs. Norval Bohannon, an aunt, said that "going overseas was all Harold talked about" before he enlisted in the Navy last summer.

The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, who live on a farm five miles southeast of East Prairie.

Mrs. Bohannon said that young Green recently had become ill and was transferred to a hospital ship while "his buddies left on another ship for a foreign port."

She said that he was left at the home port because of his age and that this depressed him.

However, he telephoned his parents Sunday night and was reported to have been in excellent spirits then.

He was a junior in East Prairie high school last year.

Young Green, a naval apprentice fireman, threatened to jump from the 12th floor of a building in Long Beach, Calif., because he couldn't get into the Viet Nam fighting, the Associated Press reported.

"I'm not with the rest of them, fighting and dying," Green said. "If I get killed, I'd sure take a bunch of the enemy with me.

"I've made two requests to go overseas, but they won't let me."

While Green straddled the fire escape of an ocean-front building, someone in a crowd that gathered below shouted, "Jump, jump."

A police reporter for the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, Bill Hazlett; a policeman, Sgt. Ed Finney, and a Navy chaplain, Lt. Jack Six, all played a big part in the drama.

For a half hour Hazlett leaned through a window, talking to Green and describing his Korea combat experiences to gain the youth's confidence. A veteran of the Inchon landing, Hazlett is a reserve Army captain. He also promised to publicize Green's desire to go to Viet Nam.

Police credited this promise with helping to lure the boy from his perch.

Finney, a Navy veteran, climbed onto the fire escape with Green and talked the Missourian into coming back into the building.

While Green talked with the chaplain, two other police officers descended quietly from the roof, came through the window and seized Green.

Kashmir Bar To Peace

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The leaders of India and Pakistan offered each other a no-war pact today but there appeared to be no prospect either offer would be accepted.

The stumbling block was the two nations' bitter quarrel over possession of Kashmir, the Himalayan state which has had the two nations at war twice since 1949.

Ayub and Shastri met for the first time since the India-Pakistan war in September at a villa on the outskirts of this Soviet central Asian city.

Robber Twice Uses Bank

PECULIAR, Mo. (AP) — A man made use of the Cass County Bank twice Monday, once to break a $100 bill, and again to rob it of about $5,000.

The second time, he told the bank president, Edward P. Schug, that he wanted the bank's help in buying some farm property.

"He went back to my office," Schug said. "I wasn't familiar with the farm, and while I was looking it up he borrowed my note pad."

The man slipped the pad to Schug, and on it was written: "This is a holdup. I need $5,000 immediately. Give no notice to anyone. Don't sound the alarm. I have a gun."

Schug looked up from reading the note. The robber showed him a pistol, and gave Schug a black plastic bag for the money. Schug filled it with bills from $1 to $100.

The man walked out. Schug said he followed him later, but he was gone.

Delay Action Bids

In the first city council meeting of the new year five bids were received for the installation of a 10,000 kilovolt amperes power transformer for the board of public works. None were accepted.

Raymert Miller, city manager, requested the council to allow Herb Phelps, manager of the BOPW, and him three days to study the bids more thoroughly. The meeting was held last night in the city administration building.

The lowest bid was $51,100 from the Maloney Electric Company, St. Louis.

The highest bid was $54,722 from General Electric Supply Company, Cape Girardeau.

Allis-Chalmers, St. Louis, bid $54,000, Westinghouse Electric Supply Company, St. Louis, $54,500 and Pennsylvania Transformer Division, St. Louis, $53,030.

W. C. Mulcahy, Benton, Scott County Health officer, appeared before the council with information about a proposed new ordinance for eating and drinking establishments.

He informed the council that the city was now operating under an ordinance drawn up in 1943.

"This new ordinance is for changing and upgrading eating and drinking establishments in the city," he said.

"The number one effect will be that I and other health inspectors can enter private organizations to make inspections. We are mainly concerned with church suppers.

"Also, the temperatures in freezers will be lowered from a required 50 degrees to 45 degrees.

"The state recommends that we adopt this new ordinance."

He said that Jackson is the only neighboring city having it.

Miller informed the council that the new signs allowing right turns on red signal lights in the city are aiding the flow of traffic.

He also informed it that pedestrians have the right of way when the right turn signs are being used.

Miller told the council about plans to widen Center, New Madrid, Scott, Kingshighway and Gladys streets this year.

He told the city council that he and Harold Vogel, public schools administrative assistant, may go to Jefferson City this month in behalf of a new civic center for the city.

Give Food Baskets

President Lucien Stoner reported at the Rotary club meeting last night that he and Allan Hubbard delivered five Rotary food baskets to Sikeston needy at Christmas. The baskets provided food for 42 persons, he said.

James Green asked the club to nominate a young man for the annual Jaycee distinguished service award.

Donation of $10 for a Rotary youth project by Lloyd Ogan of Trenton, former member of the Sikeston club, was announced.

Chip Schmerbauch announced that he would make a strip film about the Rotarian magazine available to the Morley Rotary club.

A recorded speech by Dr. John Furbay, Trans World Airlines executive and world traveler, will be next Monday's night program. It will be provided by John Kuehle.

Don Bohannon distributed the remainder of the Christmas gifts from overseas for Rotary club members' wives. Max Smotherman led the singing. Mary Ann Bruce accompanied at the piano.

The camp has been in operation since Nov. 17.

Order Given Quill

NEW YORK (AP) — A state court judge told Michael J. Quill, head of the striking transit workers, to get the city's buses and subways running again today or go to jail.

In any case the day holds another harrowing experience for the 3.5 million New Yorkers who have to get to work.

For them it means a second day of traffic jams, packed railroad terminals, lost business, missed sleep and ragged nerves.

Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller found Quill and eight other union officials guilty of civil contempt Monday in ordering the 34,400 transit employes off the job New Year's Day in defiance of a court injunction.

Report Two Breakins

Police reported today two more burglaries that happened during the holiday weekend.

Entry was made through a skylight atop the J. C. Penney store and the soft drink machine was broken into.

An inventory is being made to see if anything else has been taken.

The Mitchell - Sharp Motor Company reported that their establishment was entered through a bathroom window and their soft drink machine was rifled. Nothing else was reported missing.

564 Killed In Traffic

CHICAGO AP -- Traffic accidents killed 564 persons during the 78-hour New Year's weekend, the second consecutive record established during the year-end holiday.

The 720 persons killed during the three - day Christmas observance brought the total number of deaths for the two holiday weekends to 1,284. The Christmas toll was an all-time high for any holiday period.

The New Year's total wiped out the record established for the turn-of-the-year holiday weekend in 1964-65 when 474 persons perished in motor vehicle accidents. The lowest toll for a New Year's weekend was 269 during the 78-hour period in 1949-50.

Hackney Faces Charge

NEW MADRID -- Following a coroner's inquest yesterday at 2 p.m., Forrest Hackney, 50, was charged with murder in the shooting of Billy Gray, 27, Friday night.

The action was taken by Prosecuting Attorney Hal Hunter.

Hackney's bond was placed at $10,000. He is being held in the county jail.

The shooting took place at the Hackney home, after the two men went to the Hackney home to discuss the sale of a hog, inquest testimony related. In was followed by an argument as to who would take Gray home.

Mrs. Pearl Gray and her 14-year-old son were in the Hackney home at the time. They went outside when they heard a shot fired and did not see the shooting, officers reported.

Hackney and Gray had come from a Marston tavern earlier in the evening, where they had been drinking, authorities said.

Gray had come to Marston from St. Louis, where he had been employed, to attend a funeral.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner Leo Hedgepeth.

Illinois Man Fined $127

Sailor Sees World Much Too Slowly

EAST PRAIRIE -- Harold D. Green, the 17-year-old East Prairie sailor who threatened to jump from a California building, joined the navy but was unhappy because he didn't see the world fast enough.

Mrs. Norval Bohannon, an aunt, said that "going overseas was all Harold talked about" before he enlisted in the Navy last summer.

The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, who live on a farm five miles southeast of East Prairie.

Mrs. Bohannon said that young Green recently had become ill and was transferred to a hospital ship while "his buddies left on another ship for a foreign port."

She said that he was left at the home port because of his age and that this depressed him.

However, he telephoned his parents Sunday night and was reported to have been in excellent spirits then.

He was a junior in East Prairie high school last year.

Young Green, a naval apprentice fireman, threatened to jump from the 12th floor of a building in Long Beach, Calif., because he couldn't get into the Viet Nam fighting, the Associated Press reported.

"I'm not with the rest of them, fighting and dying," Green said. "If I get killed, I'd sure take a bunch of the enemy with me.

"I've made two requests to go overseas, but they won't let me."

While Green straddled the fire escape of an ocean-front building, someone in a crowd that gathered below shouted, "Jump, jump."

A police reporter for the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, Bill Hazlett; a policeman, Sgt. Ed Finney, and a Navy chaplain, Lt. Jack Six, all played a big part in the drama.

For a half hour Hazlett leaned through a window, talking to Green and describing his Korea combat experiences to gain the youth's confidence. A veteran of the Inchon landing, Hazlett is a reserve Army captain. He also promised to publicize Green's desire to go to Viet Nam.

Police credited this promise with helping to lure the boy from his perch.

Finney, a Navy veteran, climbed onto the fire escape with Green and talked the Missourian into coming back into the building.

While Green talked with the chaplain, two other police officers descended quietly from the roof, came through the window and seized Green.

Robber Twice Uses Bank

PECULIAR, Mo. (AP) — A man made use of the Cass County Bank twice Monday, once to break a $100 bill, and again to rob it of about $5,000.

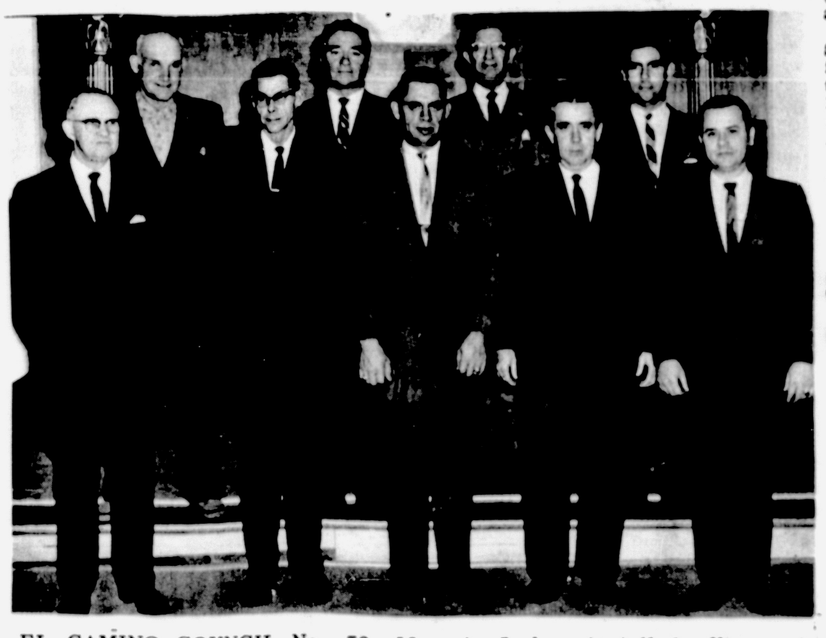

The second time, he told the bank president, Edward P. Schug, that he wanted the bank's help in buying some farm property.

"He went back to my office," Schug said. "I wasn't familiar with the farm, and while I was looking it up he borrowed my note pad."

The man slipped the pad to Schug, and on it was written: "This is a holdup. I need $5,000 immediately. Give no notice to anyone. Don't sound the alarm. I have a gun."

Schug looked up from reading the note. The robber showed him a pistol, and gave Schug a black plastic bag for the money. Schug filled it with bills from $1 to $100.

The man walked out. Schug said he followed him later, but he was gone.

TILL THE SUN SHINES: Lyndon Baines Johnson is now publicly committed to making an attempt to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act in the 1966 session of the 89th Congress. In a recent letter to Walter Reuther he said, "we have made significant progress in 1965 toward the long-sought goal of repealing Section 14(b) . . . we will come back in the next session to remove this devisive provision from the law."

But what Lyndon wants, Lyndon doesn't always get. Last October a majority of U.S. Senators voted against cloture. Thirty-four Senators are now pledged to another "attenuated" debate to prevent repeal of 14(b). Here are public statements made by 31 of the Senators who do not intend to lose in '66 what they won in '65:

Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R. Illinois) -- "If it comes up again there will be a fight. This is not partisan and political, it's American."

Senator Strom Thurmond (R. South Carolina)-- "I am delighted that this attempt at repeal has been laid aside for this year, and I want to assure you of my continued opposition to any repeal."

Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr. (D. North Carolina)-- "I assure you that I shall continue to oppose any attempt to repeal this section of the Act."

Senator Carl Curtis (R. Nebraska) -- "I regard this as just the opening round. The effort to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act very probably will be resumed next year. It will be resisted just as vigorously then as it has been this year, with those of us who oppose compulsory unionism in an even stronger position because of public sentiment. In my opinion, the vote on cloture reflected the thinking of the American people. I believe we will win."

Senator Harry F. Byrd (D. Virginia) -- "You can be sure I intend to continue this fight to the bitter end."

Senator Hiram L. Fong (R. Hawaii) -- "I have consistently fought to protect and extend the range of individual freedom and to insure civil rights and civil liberties for all Americans."

Senator Spessard L. Holland (D. Florida)-- "You may be assured of my continued vigorous opposition to the repeal of this Section which recognizes the states right - to - work laws."

Senator Wallace F. Bennett (R. Utah) -- "I am sure we can survive another similar experience next spring and with the same result, but naturally I am anxious to save everybody's time and the wear and tear on their emotions."

Senator A. Willis Robertson (D. Virginia)-- "I hope that we not only have defeated this for the past session, but for all time."

Senator Paul J. Fannin (R. Arizona) -- "If an attempt is made next year to repeal 14(b) I again intend to do everything I can to defeat it."

Senator Peter H. Dominick (R. Colorado)-- "If a state constitution can be overridden, why have a state government at all?"

Senator A. S. Mike Monroney (D. Oklahoma)-- "I voted for this postponement, and I have announced that I would vote against repeal of Section 14(b)."

Senator Roman L. Hruska (R. Nebraska)-- "You are assured that determined resistance to the repeal of 14(b) will be continued in the next session, and it is my expectation that we will have gained some new allies when Senators return after talking with their constituents and learning of the widespread opposition to compulsory unionism."

Senator Len B. Jordan (R. Idaho) -- "It is, of course, difficult now to predict the future of this legislation, but you may be sure when it comes up again, I shall continue to vigorously oppose efforts aimed at repeal."

Senator Milton R. Young (R. North Dakota)-- "I have always opposed any provision in federal labor legislation to repeal Section 14 (b) and I assure you if this issue should come up in the next Congress, my position will remain unchanged."

Senator John J. Williams (R. Delaware)-- "I appreciate hearing from you and assure you that I shall continue to do whatever I can to prevent repeal of this section of the law if it is brought up for consideration again next year."

Senator Frank Carlson (R. Kansas) -- "You may continue to count upon my support if an effort is again made next year to delete this section from the bill."

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R. Iowa)-- "I am very pleased with the outcome of the vote, and I hope that we can continue to defeat any effort to repeal this section."

Senator Karl E. Mundt (R. South Dakota)-- "This decision to withdraw the repeal legislation represents a qualified victory for those of us who believe State right-to-work laws not only perform a needed function in guaranteeing freedom of choice on the part of the working man but are also a legitimate utilization of the principle of states' rights. It is a qualified victory in the sense that although we were able to stop the Union Bosses in this session of Congress, they are expected to press hard for passage of this legislation in this session beginning next January."

Senator George Murphy (R. California) -- "I cannot support the present form of the bill, and I will join Senator Dirksen and other Republicans in an effort to defeat this legislation."

Senator James B. Pearson (R. Kansas) -- "It was very thoughtful of you to send me a word of encouragement following the Senate debate on the repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. I hope my work here will continue to merit your confidence and support."

Senator Allen J. Ellender (D. Louisiana)-- "I see nothing to recommend the deletion of Section 14(b)"

Senator Herman E. Talmadge (D. Georgia)-- "I shall continue to oppose any measure which would abridge individual and State discretion in this area."

Senator John G. Tower (R. Texas) -- "It is my intention to engage in extensive debate on this matter when it again reaches the Senate floor."

Senator John L. McClellan (D. Arkansas)-- "I know of no reason now why I should change my position."

Senator Gordon Allott (R. Colorado)--"While it would appear that the battle has been won in this session of Congress, the war is not over. Since this issue will undoubtedly be revived again next year -- and a good soldier does not expend all his ammunition on the first attack -- the lengthy speech I have prepared for this year is ready for extended combat next session."

Senator Frank J. Lausche (D. Ohio) -- "I have already expressed my views that Section 14(b) should not be repealed and will do so again."

Senator John C. Stennis (D. Mississippi) -- "We are sure to face a stronger fight than ever before and I will do everything possible to prevent its passage."

Senator Milward L. Simpson (R. Wyoming)-- "I am sure that when Members of Congress return to their homes, they will find that the great majority of people oppose the attempts to destroy this fundamental right of Americans to work without compulsory unionism."

Senator Richard B. Russell (D. Georgia) -- "I will do my best."

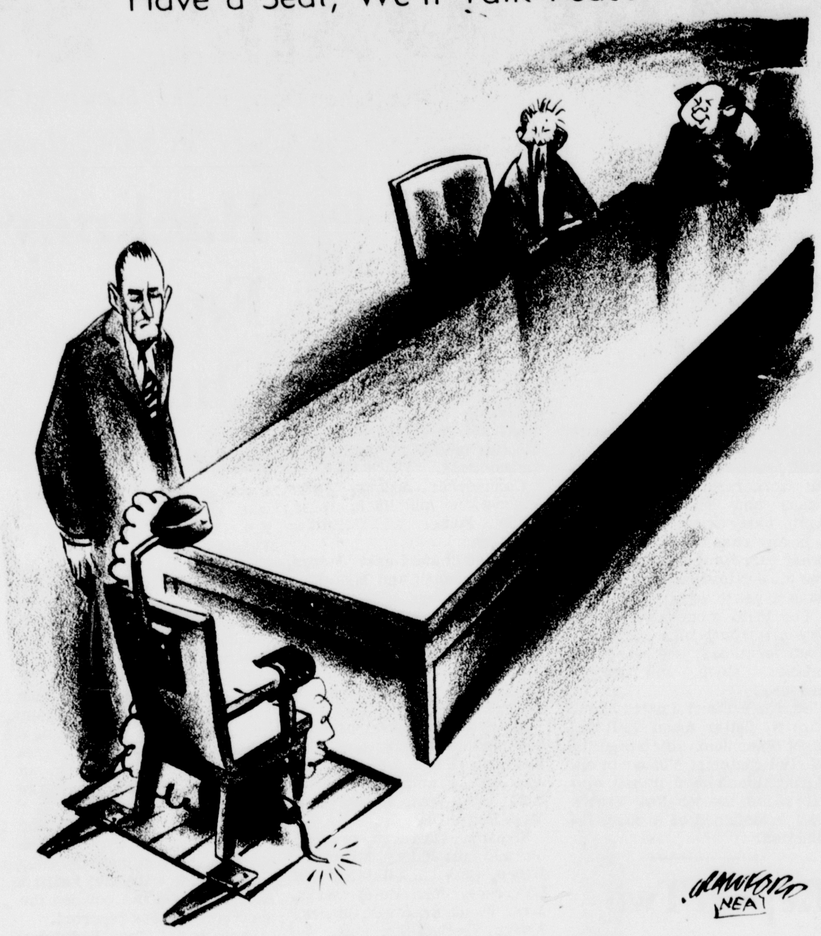

Senator B. Everett Jordan (D. North Carolina)-- "Let me assure you I am and will do everything I can in opposition to Repeal."

We fail to find Missouri's Senators in the above.

The State Highway Patrol announced today that as Missouri motorists start the new year they will leave behind the most tragic traffic record in its history.

During the first month of last year 126 people were killed in Missouri traffic. As the weeks and months rolled by the slaughter continued. On December 21 the Patrol recorded the 1,294th traffic victim of 1965, breaking the record high toll set the previous year.

Captain John A. Berglund, of the Patrol's Safety Division, made this comment, "As we begin a new year everyone is looking hopefully to the months ahead. Regretfully, we look backward to the shameful traffic record of 1965, by far the worst in our history.

"Last year has tragically followed in the grim footsteps of its predecessor -- adding rather than subtracting from the mounting death toll, injuries and property destruction on our highways. When and where the tide will turn is anyone's guess and is the business of all of us."

Captain Berglund noted that drivers continue to make the same mistakes at the wheel. He said they continue to drive at an illegal or unsafe speed, they often fail to yield the right of way and that many people follow other vehicles too closely.

"Many persons have learned the hard way during the past year as to the price of making a mistake on the highway," the Captain continued. "Some of these people are no longer with us. Others are still suffering from injuries incurred in traffic accidents and many have suffered economic losses.

"The beginning of a new year is a good time for motorists to take an honest look at their driving habits. The mistakes they made, and got away with in the past, may very well result in tragedy in the future," Captain Berglund concluded.

A CHAPTER IN AN ENDLESS BOOK

One of the fascinating chapters in the endless book that is the story of this nation has to do with the express companies.

There have been many of them. Some have been forgotten, even though they played their part in the making of history. Others are remembered -- Adams, American, Wells Fargo. And the most famous of them all, the Pony Express, lives brilliantly in legend and is a symbol of courage, enterprise and the pioneering spirit.

The first express company was founded in 1839. The earliest companies crisscrossed the populated East where the demand for service was great. But soon express ventures pressed westward, to meet the needs of the pioneers with ever-expanding transportation and communications lifelines.

In 1918, the express companies that remained were unified in order to provide a better, more economical and more comprehensive service. And now, in REA Express, we have an operation which links the cities and towns of all 50 states along with world-wide points on all the continents.

The express company of the present would seem an unbelieveably complex enterprise to those who pioneered the business. But all the companies have had one thing in common -- the will and the ability to create and offer the finest service that the knowledge and conditions of their times permitted.

Prepared to remain in the dump until death took him, he happened to spy a pencil stub in the trash. Tearing off a piece of greasy brown paper from a garbage bag, he began to write a farewell letter to his father, recounting all his misdeeds, expressing his regret for not heeding parental advice, his remorse, his sins, etc. Just as he was about to finish, his tired eyes spotted a half-filled bottle of wine. Groping, he reached the bottle, downed its contents in one furious gulp. Then he continued his letter: " . . . and so, father, if there is ever anything you might need, please come pay me a visit and I'll . . ."

No news travels faster or farther than that news of a rich oil or mineral strike. No news is harder to keep bottled up. For example, a few years ago when the 18 jiant mineing companies started drilling like mad for minerals in Swamp East Mo. the news soon leaked out that they was hitting ore all over. That's when the price of lead took a nose-dive and Unk stepped in buying and stokpiling lead. At that time lead had tumbled to 10¢ a pound. Its 16¢ now. So far so good, but it was then realized that it would never do to risk all of that potential in the hands of the thousand of individual landowner. Hence the scheme was proposed to confiscate this potential in the name of conservation with the cooperation of the Geological Survey and the State and Federal officeholders. Apparently there is one little hitch in that plan. The cat is out of the bag now and it may wind up in another Tea Pot Dome scandal that knows no party lines. With all officeholders from Dog-catcher to President under a strict contract with the people with a chain about their neck to pull them out of office at anytime they stray from the straight and narrow. The motto of the people to be, no contract no vote.

DEFENSE IS PROVOCATION?

At the Pugwash disarmament conference held in Moscow in November, 1960, Dr. Jerome Wiesner and Walt Whitman Rostow, in closed talks with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of USSR, discussed the disarmament of the United States, as a concession to avoid "provocation" of the Russians.

In a confidential memorandum, Rostow urged the adoption of a strategy which would be inoffensive to the Russians. Out of the Rostow Memorandum grew State Department Document 7277, which outlines a sucidal plan for "general and complete disarmament" in a "peaceful world" which simply does not exist.

Wiesner told the Moscow conclave that world peace would be encouraged if the Russians could develop a nuclear capacity equal to that of the United States; he advised the Soviet to harden their missile sites to safeguard them from enemy attack. Since the U.S. is the enemy for which Russian missiles are intended, it is hard to figure out just whom Dr. Wiesner was representing at the Pugwash Conference.

Wiesner and Rostow, who worked on super-secret CIA projects at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, have seen their theories come to pass in the policies of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. One of the specific proposals of the Moscow conference, to scrap our manned bombers and missiles surrounding the Communist empire, was carried out early in Mr. McNamara's reign over the Pentagon.

McNamara, diligently carrying out the covert provisions of the 7277 disarmament plan, recently announced his schedule for completion of one of the advanced stages of the plan: the scrapping of the SAC bomber fleet.

And now Dr. Wiesner has declared that the development of an anti-missile defense network by the U.S. would be "provocative." But most provocative is our liberty. HLH

NEW YORK AP -- Don't throw bricks in '66. As best we can make it out, 1966 will be a poor year in which to rock the boat -- and a good one in which to learn the art of walking on eggs.

The road signs say, "Go slow" and "Sharp curves ahead."

Economically speaking, the world outlook is mixed. This means that in most countries the rich will get more money and the poor will get more promises.

On the international front these possibilities cannot be overlooked:

Charles de Gaulle of France will offer to go to China to launch a worldwide peace offensive. The NATO nations will immediately offer him a rowboat in which to make the journey.

Moscow will claim new evidence to prove that the swivel chair, paper clip and bubble gum were originally invented by 18th century Russian scientists working in Minsk, Pinsk and Omsk.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain will announce to a startled Parliament that an elderly baronet on a bird-watching trip to Wales has sighted a grossbilled twithatch, a species believed extinct. Later, in an emergency apology broadcast over BBC, he will declare that fuller investigation has disclosed the bird in question was actually a grosstwitted hatchbill, a bird of quite a different feather.

The man in the moon will appeal to the United Nations for relief, asserting that the noise level of rocket-firing space craft are threatening to make his life unendurable.

In a peace move in the war over highway beautification, the billboard people will offer Lady Bird a post as their industry arbiter.

President Johnson will sign an executive order granting Vice President Humphrey an airlines credit card good for trips anywhere in the world. He will use 102 pens — a record — in signing the order.

In other fields look for:

Education — Harvard will award an honorary degree as doctor of literature to Cassius Clay "for inestimable contributions to the English language."

Sports — Some pro football team will sign a college quarterback for $50 a week plus room and board but insist that he pay for his own laundry.

Medicine — A new wonder pill will be developed that won't cure you of anything but will make the payment of doctor bills less painful. The American Medical Association will oppose it as another step to socialized medicine.

All in all, 1966 promises to be a busy, exciting year full of thrills. Just take it easy — and don't cross the streets in the middle of the block — and you make it safely to 1967.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

THE SEA OF GALILEE--While the world has been worrying about war in Viet Nam and Kashmir, a less-publicized but long-festering sore is reaching the danger point at the crossroads of Asia, Africa and Europe.

On the borders of Israel and the Arab states, tensions are growing, troops are maneuvering, shots ring out every night over that most precious of man's essentials--water.

A swelling Israeli population has reached a point where it must have more water. And a sullen Arab population has reached a point where it is working to divert water from the streams that flow into Israel and the Sea of Galilee.

When Arab diversion plus Israeli diversion is complete, the water on the Sea of Galilee will fall so low that if Christ were walking on its waters today he might as well be tramping across mud flats. Already the water is getting salty, and the projected diversion will bring the shoreline down one-third, at which point the water from this historic sea will be fit for neither Arab nor Jew to drink.

Long before that, however, fighting is likely to break out along the jagged, restless border that separates Israel from the Arab states.

Already maneuvering ominously in the background is a powerful lineup of Arab and Israeli troops, tanks, planes and missiles, which if unleashed would churn up the sands of the Near East as never since the days of Herod's chariots. Furthermore, they would force the USA and USSR either to intervene actively for peace, or choose sides for world war.

SOVIETS ARM ARABS

Here is the line-up of military might at this crossroads of the Near East:

TANKS--The Soviet has sent 2,500 tanks to the Arab states, of which 500 are T-54's, just as powerful as the American M-60's, and considerably more powerful than the American M-48.

Against this, Israel has about 600 tanks, chiefly M-4 Shermans, some Centurians, and a few M-48's. In the past, the Israeli army has been able to outmaneuver and outgun its Arab opponents. However, the inescapable fact is that Israel is outnumbered in tanks about four to one.

AIR POWER -- The Soviet has sent about 150 bombers to the Arab states, chiefly Ilyushin 28's, of which 120 are flown by Egyptians. Since Israel is a small country, no bigger than Massachusetts, with long borders completely surrounded by Arab neighbors, this is considered an ample force to bomb any and every Israeli city--if war comes.

In addition, the Arab states are well equipped with the latest Soviet fighter planes, the MIG-19's and MIG-21's. The total Egyptian air strength is estimated at 500 planes, including 52 MIG-21's, 80 MIG-19's, 60 transport planes, and 40 helicopters.

Israel has about 450 aircraft, including 75 Mirage fighters equipped with Matra air-to-air missiles, considered the latest thing in French fighters. It also has 55 Ouragon fighter-bombers, one squadron of transport planes supplied by the United States, one squadron of helicopters and 60 Magister jet trainers.

BRINK OF WAR

In any showdown with the Arab states, Israel would have to depend on lightning attacks before the other side was ready --as happened in the Suez war. This is one reason the present situation is so dangerous. War can start in a few minutes, if one side gets nervous.

MISSILES -- Russia has now delivered to Egypt 14 fast patrol boats of the Komar class plus four of the OSA class, each carrying missiles somewhat on the order of our Polaris setup except that they are not nuclear. They have a range of 20 miles, and since Israel is long and narrow, with depth in one place of only seven miles, these patrol boats could do tremendous damage in case of war.

In addition, the ex-Nazi scientists whom Nasser has imported from Germany have now developed several important long-range missiles for the Egyptian army. They include Al Zafir, which carries a 1,000-pound warhead and has a range of 235 miles; also Al Kahir with a similar warhead and a range of 375 miles; also Al Ared with a one-ton warhead and a range of 1,000 miles.

Egypt is reported to have around 300 missiles and a known missile force of 4,500 men.

Israel now has the hawk surface - to - air missile, but has nothing to compare with Egypt's huge missile arsenal. The Israelis now depend on their 24-hour alert to defend themselves against attack, plus their fast-moving air force.

In a long war, however, the Arab world would have a tremendous advantage. The combined population of the Arab world surrounding the Mediterranean--though not all hostile to Israel -- totals 80 million. Israel's population is 2.5 million.

The showdown with the Arab world could come when more water is drained from the Sea of Galilee and its tributaries, and when that famous sea sinks to the level of a salt semi-quagmire. Or it could come before.

Today Col. Nasser has been bogged down in Yemen in a guerrilla war similar to our war in Viet Nam, which he cannot win. He needs a good excuse to withdraw; and the coming showdown over Arab-Israeli water may give him that excuse.

Inside Labor

Internal Revenue Service Makes Unprecedented Move; Wants Tough Chicago Teamsters Union Taxed as A Business

Washington, D. C.: -- One of the unsung celebrities of Chicago's shadowland society is Joseph Paul (Joey) Glimco, a labor leader whose status symbol is a tax action brought against him by the Internal Revenue Service.

What makes this unique lies not only in the sizable amount of money being demanded from Glimco by the Treasury Dept. for merely two years, but in the fact that this move is linked with a similar action against the Teamsters' local headed by Mr. Glimco.

The IRS, in effect, is charging that this union, Taxicab Drivers, Maintenance and Garage Helpers, Local 777, acted as a private corporation, should be taxed as a corporation, and therefore is not tax exempt.

This is the first time the government has taken such drastic action against a labor organization.

President Glimco, who has been charged by police officials under Congressional oath with being one of the 19 men who dominate the Chicago crime syndicate, did what comes naturally. He refused to pay. So did his Teamsters organization.

Just as naturally the IRS moved the action into court. On Feburary 14 both cases will be tried in Chicago. If the Treasury Dept. wins it will set a precedent. It will have proved that the union violated Section 501 of the 1954 Tax Code which sets up the rules for tax exempt organizations.

It should be a fascinating trial. The government's secret evidence, prepared in consultation between IRS and the Justice Dept., will pour out in an effort to prove that Glimco and some of his colleagues have run a business and not a union.

And apparently to the substantial profit of this man, who has been accused by crusading law officers' testimony under oath with being a friend of such enterprising goons as the late Murray, The Camel, Humphreys. He frightened himself to death the other week thus vacating the second-in-command position in the midland crime combine where he had been in charge of labor rackets since the IRS and FBI got Al Capone.

The intrepid IRS is asking for a modest $101,056.82 for the years 1956 and '57 from Local 777.

From Glimco the government seeks $145,000, at least, for back taxes on monies drawn from the union during 1954 and 1957.

Mr. Glimco's polite reply, firm as it is, stands in sharp contrast with his reaction to other adversaries. He, for example, once submitted to an NLRB directive to refrain from using violence or threats of violence during an organizing campaign.

As for the union itself, it has been held in contempt by the U.S. Court of Appeals for violating a consent decree not to use violence or threats of violence in an effort to win over several thousand Chicago hackies.

The Feb. 14 trials could be precedent-setting because the IRS, with microscopic devotion to duty and ethics, charges that the union has made certain payments to Mr. Glimco which he should have reported as income.

These include auto expenses, hotel tabs, part of the cost of attending the Teamsters' national convention.

There also is the matter of some $55,000 which the union had paid for legal, bond and investigative fees in behalf of Glimco.

Glimco, through his attorneys, has retorted that this money was authorized by the membership. Thus, if the IRS should win its four-year fight, it will establish that even the rank and file -- or as much of it as bothers to come out to meetings -- can't approve expenditure of the union's dues funds for the personal legal fees of its leaders.

And if the IRS is the victor, it also will set precedent against the payment of such items as "Christmas money" provided by the union to its officers as non-taxable income.

Furthermore, should the Service defeat Local 777's appeal against IRS, the government will set a precedent for action against labor organizations.

The Treasury Dept. will show that no union is automatically exempt from paying taxes, or from being treated as a corporation and thus being liable to taxation at a rate ranging from 22 percent to 48 percent, unless it acts in benefit to its members.

It is heartening to know that somebody cares, and that morality can triumph over muscle.

It will be resisted just as vigorously then as it has been this year, with those of us who oppose compulsory unionism in an even stronger position because of public sentiment. In my opinion, the vote on cloture reflected the thinking of the American people. I believe we will win."

Senator Harry F. Byrd (D. Virginia) -- "You can be sure I intend to continue this fight to the bitter end."

Senator Hiram L. Fong (R. Hawaii) -- "I have consistently fought to protect and extend the range of individual freedom and to insure civil rights and civil liberties for all Americans."

Senator Spessard L. Holland (D. Florida)-- "You may be assured of my continued vigorous opposition to the repeal of this Section which recognizes the states right - to - work laws."

Senator Wallace F. Bennett (R. Utah) -- "I am sure we can survive another similar experience next spring and with the same result, but naturally I am anxious to save everybody's time and the wear and tear on their emotions."

Senator A. Willis Robertson (D. Virginia)-- "I hope that we not only have defeated this for the past session, but for all time."

Senator Paul J. Fannin (R. Arizona) -- "If an attempt is made next year to repeal 14(b) I again intend to do everything I can to defeat it."

Senator Peter H. Dominick (R. Colorado)-- "If a state constitution can be overridden, why have a state government at all?"

Senator A. S. Mike Monroney (D. Oklahoma)-- "I voted for this postponement, and I have announced that I would vote against repeal of Section 14(b)."

Senator Roman L. Hruska (R. Nebraska)-- "You are assured that determined resistance to the repeal of 14(b) will be continued in the next session, and it is my expectation that we will have gained some new allies when Senators return after talking with their constituents and learning of the widespread opposition to compulsory unionism."

Senator Len B. Jordan (R. Idaho) -- "It is, of course, difficult now to predict the future of this legislation, but you may be sure when it comes up again, I shall continue to vigorously oppose efforts aimed at repeal."

Senator Milton R. Young (R. North Dakota)-- "I have always opposed any provision in federal labor legislation to repeal Section 14 (b) and I assure you if this issue should come up in the next Congress, my position will remain unchanged."

Senator John J. Williams (R. Delaware)-- "I appreciate hearing from you and assure you that I shall continue to do whatever I can to prevent repeal of this section of the law if it is brought up for consideration again next year."

Senator Frank Carlson (R. Kansas) -- "You may continue to count upon my support if an effort is again made next year to delete this section from the bill."

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R. Iowa)-- "I am very pleased with the outcome of the vote, and I hope that we can continue to defeat any effort to repeal this section."

Senator Karl E. Mundt (R. South Dakota)-- "This decision to withdraw the repeal legislation represents a qualified victory for those of us who believe State right-to-work laws not only perform a needed function in guaranteeing freedom of choice on the part of the working man but are also a legitimate utilization of the principle of states' rights. It is a qualified victory in the sense that although we were able to stop the Union Bosses in this session of Congress, they are expected to press hard for passage of this legislation in this session beginning next January."

Senator George Murphy (R. California) -- "I cannot support the present form of the bill, and I will join Senator Dirksen and other Republicans in an effort to defeat this legislation."

Senator James B. Pearson (R. Kansas) -- "It was very thoughtful of you to send me a word of encouragement following the Senate debate on the repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. I hope my work here will continue to merit your confidence and support."

Senator Allen J. Ellender (D. Louisiana)-- "I see nothing to recommend the deletion of Section 14(b)"

Senator Herman E. Talmadge (D. Georgia)-- "I shall continue to oppose any measure which would abridge individual and State discretion in this area."

Senator John G. Tower (R. Texas) -- "It is my intention to engage in extensive debate on this matter when it again reaches the Senate floor."

Senator John L. McClellan (D. Arkansas)-- "I know of no reason now why I should change my position."

Senator Gordon Allott (R. Colorado)--"While it would appear that the battle has been won in this session of Congress, the war is not over. Since this issue will undoubtedly be revived again next year -- and a good soldier does not expend all his ammunition on the first attack -- the lengthy speech I have prepared for this year is ready for extended combat next session."

Senator Frank J. Lausche (D. Ohio) -- "I have already expressed my views that Section 14(b) should not be repealed and will do so again."

Senator John C. Stennis (D. Mississippi) -- "We are sure to face a stronger fight than ever before and I will do everything possible to prevent its passage."

Senator Milward L. Simpson (R. Wyoming)-- "I am sure that when Members of Congress return to their homes, they will find that the great majority of people oppose the attempts to destroy this fundamental right of Americans to work without compulsory unionism."

Senator Richard B. Russell (D. Georgia) -- "I will do my best."

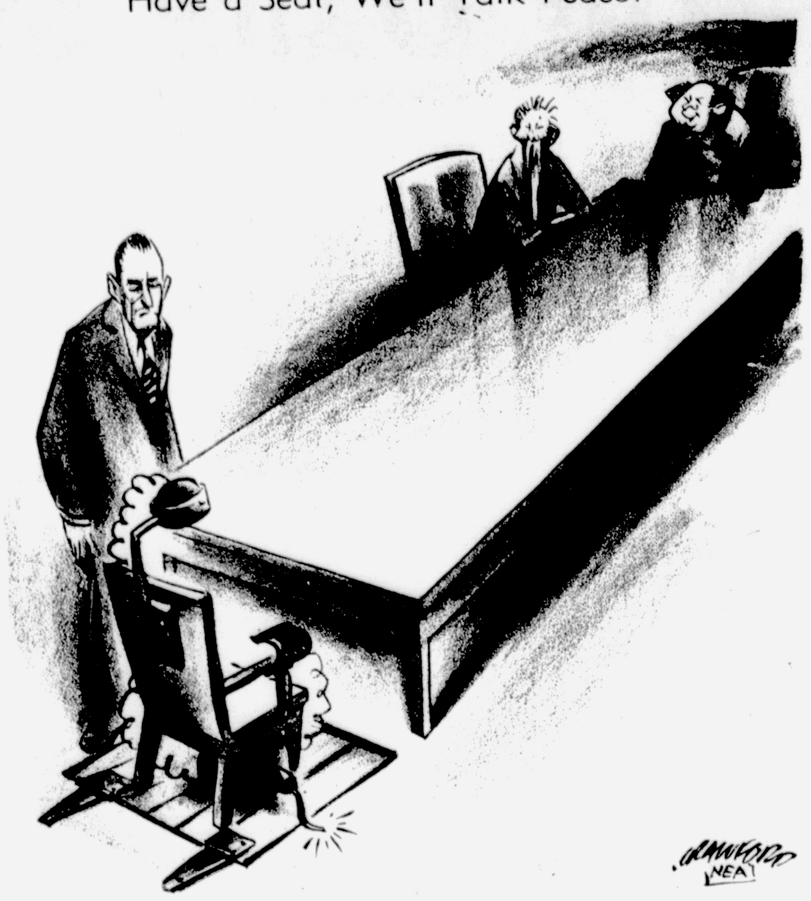

Senator B. Everett Jordan (D. North Carolina)-- "Let me assure you I am and will do everything I can in opposition to Repeal."

We fail to find Missouri's Senators in the above.

The State Highway Patrol announced today that as Missouri motorists start the new year they will leave behind the most tragic traffic record in its history.

During the first month of last year 126 people were killed in Missouri traffic. As the weeks and months rolled by the slaughter continued. On December 21 the Patrol recorded the 1,294th traffic victim of 1965, breaking the record high toll set the previous year.

Captain John A. Berglund, of the Patrol's Safety Division, made this comment, "As we begin a new year everyone is looking hopefully to the months ahead. Regretfully, we look backward to the shameful traffic record of 1965, by far the worst in our history.

"Last year has tragically followed in the grim footsteps of its predecessor -- adding rather than subtracting from the mounting death toll, injuries and property destruction on our highways. When and where the tide will turn is anyone's guess and is the business of all of us."

Captain Berglund noted that drivers continue to make the same mistakes at the wheel. He said they continue to drive at an illegal or unsafe speed, they often fail to yield the right of way and that many people follow other vehicles too closely.

"Many persons have learned the hard way during the past year as to the price of making a mistake on the highway," the Captain continued. "Some of these people are no longer with us. Others are still suffering from injuries incurred in traffic accidents and many have suffered economic losses.

"The beginning of a new year is a good time for motorists to take an honest look at their driving habits. The mistakes they made, and got away with in the past, may very well result in tragedy in the future," Captain Berglund concluded.

Girls who apply for jobs as airline hostesses are given questionaires to fill out. One question always asked is: "Why do you want to be an airline hostess?" A few days ago at the hostess training school in Kansas City, a TWA applicant answered the question as follows: "There are many other jobs where you can meet nice men, but this is the only job I know in which you can strap them down."

A CHAPTER IN AN ENDLESS BOOK

One of the fascinating chapters in the endless book that is the story of this nation has to do with the express companies.

There have been many of them. Some have been forgotten, even though they played their part in the making of history. Others are remembered -- Adams, American, Wells Fargo. And the most famous of them all, the Pony Express, lives brilliantly in legend and is a symbol of courage, enterprise and the pioneering spirit.

The first express company was founded in 1839. The earliest companies crisscrossed the populated East where the demand for service was great. But soon express ventures pressed westward, to meet the needs of the pioneers with ever-expanding transportation and communications lifelines.

In 1918, the express companies that remained were unified in order to provide a better, more economical and more comprehensive service. And now, in REA Express, we have an operation which links the cities and towns of all 50 states along with world-wide points on all the continents.

The express company of the present would seem an unbelieveably complex enterprise to those who pioneered the business. But all the companies have had one thing in common -- the will and the ability to create and offer the finest service that the knowledge and conditions of their times permitted.

A bum woke in the middle of a stench-filled garbage dump. He looked around and sadly realized that he had finally reached the dregs. Prepared to remain in the dump until death took him, he happened to spy a pencil stub in the trash. Tearing off a piece of greasy brown paper from a garbage bag, he began to write a farewell letter to his father, recounting all his misdeeds, expressing his regret for not heeding parental advice, his remorse, his sins, etc. Just as he was about to finish, his tired eyes spotted a half-filled bottle of wine. Groping, he reached the bottle, downed its contents in one furious gulp. Then he continued his letter: " . . . and so, father, if there is ever anything you might need, please come pay me a visit and I'll . . ."

Doc. Duncan Says

No news travels faster or farther than that news of a rich oil or mineral strike. No news is harder to keep bottled up. For example, a few years ago when the 18 jiant mineing companies started drilling like mad for minerals in Swamp East Mo. the news soon leaked out that they was hitting ore all over. That's when the price of lead took a nose-dive and Unk stepped in buying and stokpiling lead. At that time lead had tumbled to 10¢ a pound. Its 16¢ now. So far so good, but it was then realized that it would never do to risk all of that potential in the hands of the thousand of individual landowner. Hence the scheme was proposed to confiscate this potential in the name of conservation with the cooperation of the Geological Survey and the State and Federal officeholders. Apparently there is one little hitch in that plan. The cat is out of the bag now and it may wind up in another Tea Pot Dome scandal that knows no party lines. With all officeholders from Dog-catcher to President under a strict contract with the people with a chain about their neck to pull them out of office at anytime they stray from the straight and narrow. The motto of the people to be, no contract no vote.

H. L. Hunt Says

DEFENSE IS PROVOCATION?

At the Pugwash disarmament conference held in Moscow in November, 1960, Dr. Jerome Wiesner and Walt Whitman Rostow, in closed talks with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of USSR, discussed the disarmament of the United States, as a concession to avoid "provocation" of the Russians.

In a confidential memorandum, Rostow urged the adoption of a strategy which would be inoffensive to the Russians. Out of the Rostow Memorandum grew State Department Document 7277, which outlines a sucidal plan for "general and complete disarmament" in a "peaceful world" which simply does not exist.

Wiesner told the Moscow conclave that world peace would be encouraged if the Russians could develop a nuclear capacity equal to that of the United States; he advised the Soviet to harden their missile sites to safeguard them from enemy attack. Since the U.S. is the enemy for which Russian missiles are intended, it is hard to figure out just whom Dr. Wiesner was representing at the Pugwash Conference.

Wiesner and Rostow, who worked on super-secret CIA projects at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, have seen their theories come to pass in the policies of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. One of the specific proposals of the Moscow conference, to scrap our manned bombers and missiles surrounding the Communist empire, was carried out early in Mr. McNamara's reign over the Pentagon.

McNamara, diligently carrying out the covert provisions of the 7277 disarmament plan, recently announced his schedule for completion of one of the advanced stages of the plan: the scrapping of the SAC bomber fleet.

And now Dr. Wiesner has declared that the development of an anti-missile defense network by the U.S. would be "provocative." But most provocative is our liberty. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

THE SEA OF GALILEE--While the world has been worrying about war in Viet Nam and Kashmir, a less-publicized but long-festering sore is reaching the danger point at the crossroads of Asia, Africa and Europe.

On the borders of Israel and the Arab states, tensions are growing, troops are maneuvering, shots ring out every night over that most precious of man's essentials--water.

A swelling Israeli population has reached a point where it must have more water. And a sullen Arab population has reached a point where it is working to divert water from the streams that flow into Israel and the Sea of Galilee.

When Arab diversion plus Israeli diversion is complete, the water on the Sea of Galilee will fall so low that if Christ were walking on its waters today he might as well be tramping across mud flats. Already the water is getting salty, and the projected diversion will bring the shoreline down one-third, at which point the water from this historic sea will be fit for neither Arab nor Jew to drink.

Long before that, however, fighting is likely to break out along the jagged, restless border that separates Israel from the Arab states.

Already maneuvering ominously in the background is a powerful lineup of Arab and Israeli troops, tanks, planes and missiles, which if unleashed would churn up the sands of the Near East as never since the days of Herod's chariots. Furthermore, they would force the USA and USSR either to intervene actively for peace, or choose sides for world war.

SOVIETS ARM ARABS

Here is the line-up of military might at this crossroads of the Near East:

TANKS--The Soviet has sent 2,500 tanks to the Arab states, of which 500 are T-54's, just as powerful as the American M-60's, and considerably more powerful than the American M-48.

Against this, Israel has about 600 tanks, chiefly M-4 Shermans, some Centurians, and a few M-48's. In the past, the Israeli army has been able to outmaneuver and outgun its Arab opponents. However, the inescapable fact is that Israel is outnumbered in tanks about four to one.

AIR POWER -- The Soviet has sent about 150 bombers to the Arab states, chiefly Ilyushin 28's, of which 120 are flown by Egyptians. Since Israel is a small country, no bigger than Massachusetts, with long borders completely surrounded by Arab neighbors, this is considered an ample force to bomb any and every Israeli city--if war comes.

In addition, the Arab states are well equipped with the latest Soviet fighter planes, the MIG-19's and MIG-21's. The total Egyptian air strength is estimated at 500 planes, including 52 MIG-21's, 80 MIG-19's, 60 transport planes, and 40 helicopters.

Israel has about 450 aircraft, including 75 Mirage fighters equipped with Matra air-to-air missiles, considered the latest thing in French fighters. It also has 55 Ouragon fighter-bombers, one squadron of transport planes supplied by the United States, one squadron of helicopters and 60 Magister jet trainers.

BRINK OF WAR

In any showdown with the Arab states, Israel would have to depend on lightning attacks before the other side was ready --as happened in the Suez war. This is one reason the present situation is so dangerous. War can start in a few minutes, if one side gets nervous.

MISSILES -- Russia has now delivered to Egypt 14 fast patrol boats of the Komar class plus four of the OSA class, each carrying missiles somewhat on the order of our Polaris setup except that they are not nuclear. They have a range of 20 miles, and since Israel is long and narrow, with depth in one place of only seven miles, these patrol boats could do tremendous damage in case of war.

In addition, the ex-Nazi scientists whom Nasser has imported from Germany have now developed several important long-range missiles for the Egyptian army. They include Al Zafir, which carries a 1,000-pound warhead and has a range of 235 miles; also Al Kahir with a similar warhead and a range of 375 miles; also Al Ared with a one-ton warhead and a range of 1,000 miles.

Egypt is reported to have around 300 missiles and a known missile force of 4,500 men.

Israel now has the hawk surface - to - air missile, but has nothing to compare with Egypt's huge missile arsenal. The Israelis now depend on their 24-hour alert to defend themselves against attack, plus their fast-moving air force.

In a long war, however, the Arab world would have a tremendous advantage. The combined population of the Arab world surrounding the Mediterranean--though not all hostile to Israel -- totals 80 million. Israel's population is 2.5 million.

The showdown with the Arab world could come when more water is drained from the Sea of Galilee and its tributaries, and when that famous sea sinks to the level of a salt semi-quagmire. Or it could come before.

Today Col. Nasser has been bogged down in Yemen in a guerrilla war similar to our war in Viet Nam, which he cannot win. He needs a good excuse to withdraw; and the coming showdown over Arab-Israeli water may give him that excuse.

Internal Revenue Service Makes Unprecedented Move; Wants Tough Chicago Teamsters Union Taxed as A Business

Washington, D. C.: -- One of the unsung celebrities of Chicago's shadowland society is Joseph Paul (Joey) Glimco, a labor leader whose status symbol is a tax action brought against him by the Internal Revenue Service.

What makes this unique lies not only in the sizable amount of money being demanded from Glimco by the Treasury Dept. for merely two years, but in the fact that this move is linked with a similar action against the Teamsters' local headed by Mr. Glimco.

The IRS, in effect, is charging that this union, Taxicab Drivers, Maintenance and Garage Helpers, Local 777, acted as a private corporation, should be taxed as a corporation, and therefore is not tax exempt.

This is the first time the government has taken such drastic action against a labor organization.

President Glimco, who has been charged by police officials under Congressional oath with being one of the 19 men who dominate the Chicago crime syndicate, did what comes naturally. He refused to pay. So did his Teamsters organization.

Just as naturally the IRS moved the action into court. On Feburary 14 both cases will be tried in Chicago. If the Treasury Dept. wins it will set a precedent. It will have proved that the union violated Section 501 of the 1954 Tax Code which sets up the rules for tax exempt organizations.

It should be a fascinating trial. The government's secret evidence, prepared in consultation between IRS and the Justice Dept., will pour out in an effort to prove that Glimco and some of his colleagues have run a business and not a union.

And apparently to the substantial profit of this man, who has been accused by crusading law officers' testimony under oath with being a friend of such enterprising goons as the late Murray, The Camel, Humphreys. He frightened himself to death the other week thus vacating the second-in-command position in the midland crime combine where he had been in charge of labor rackets since the IRS and FBI got Al Capone.

The intrepid IRS is asking for a modest $101,056.82 for the years 1956 and '57 from Local 777.

From Glimco the government seeks $145,000, at least, for back taxes on monies drawn from the union during 1954 and 1957.

Mr. Glimco's polite reply, firm as it is, stands in sharp contrast with his reaction to other adversaries. He, for example, once submitted to an NLRB directive to refrain from using violence or threats of violence during an organizing campaign.

As for the union itself, it has been held in contempt by the U.S. Court of Appeals for violating a consent decree not to use violence or threats of violence in an effort to win over several thousand Chicago hackies.

The Feb. 14 trials could be precedent-setting because the IRS, with microscopic devotion to duty and ethics, charges that the union has made certain payments to Mr. Glimco which he should have reported as income.

These include auto expenses, hotel tabs, part of the cost of attending the Teamsters' national convention.

There also is the matter of some $55,000 which the union had paid for legal, bond and investigative fees in behalf of Glimco.

Glimco, through his attorneys, has retorted that this money was authorized by the membership. Thus, if the IRS should win its four-year fight, it will establish that even the rank and file -- or as much of it as bothers to come out to meetings -- can't approve expenditure of the union's dues funds for the personal legal fees of its leaders.

And if the IRS is the victor, it also will set precedent against the payment of such items as "Christmas money" provided by the union to its officers as non-taxable income.

Furthermore, should the Service defeat Local 777's appeal against IRS, the government will set a precedent for action against labor organizations.

The Treasury Dept. will show that no union is automatically exempt from paying taxes, or from being treated as a corporation and thus being liable to taxation at a rate ranging from 22 percent to 48 percent, unless it acts in benefit to its members.

It is heartening to know that somebody cares, and that morality can triumph over muscle.

NEW YORK AP -- Don't throw bricks in '66. As best we can make it out, 1966 will be a poor year in which to rock the boat -- and a good one in which to learn the art of walking on eggs.

The road signs say, "Go slow" and "Sharp curves ahead."

Economically speaking, the world outlook is mixed. This means that in most countries the rich will get more money and the poor will get more promises.

On the international front these possibilities cannot be overlooked:

Charles de Gaulle of France will offer to go to China to launch a worldwide peace offensive. The NATO nations will immediately offer him a rowboat in which to make the journey.

Moscow will claim new evidence to prove that the swivel chair, paper clip and bubble gum were originally invented by 18th century Russian scientists working in Minsk, Pinsk and Omsk.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain will announce to a startled Parliament that an elderly baronet on a bird-watching trip to Wales has sighted a grossbilled twithatch, a species believed extinct. Later, in an emergency apology broadcast over BBC, he will declare that fuller investigation has disclosed the bird in question was actually a grosstwitted hatchbill, a bird of quite a different feather.

The man in the moon will appeal to the United Nations for relief, asserting that the noise level of rocket-firing space craft are threatening to make his life unendurable.

In a peace move in the war over highway beautification, the billboard people will offer Lady Bird a post as their industry arbiter.

President Johnson will sign an executive order granting Vice President Humphrey an airlines credit card good for trips anywhere in the world. He will use 102 pens — a record — in signing the order.

In other fields look for:

Education — Harvard will award an honorary degree as doctor of literature to Cassius Clay "for inestimable contributions to the English language."

Sports — Some pro football team will sign a college quarterback for $50 a week plus room and board but insist that he pay for his own laundry.

Medicine — A new wonder pill will be developed that won't cure you of anything but will make the payment of doctor bills less painful. The American Medical Association will oppose it as another step to socialized medicine.

All in all, 1966 promises to be a busy, exciting year full of thrills. Just take it easy — and don't cross the streets in the middle of the block — and you make it safely to 1967.

HOMEMAKERS ARE DEMANDING BIGGER HOMES, MORE BATHROOMS

The average home built in 1965 was over 10 percent larger than the one erected a decade ago, according to the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. This increase is almost certainly due to a demand for more bathrooms, larger kitchens and family rooms, in that order of importance, the Bureau says.

By Hildred Poole

Hello! Happy New Year! It just doesn't seem possible that this is already the start of a new year. I've always been told "the older you get the shorter the years seem" and I dread it when they get any shorter than they are now.

Very little league bowling was done this last week but was told I missed one very good score last time. Peggy Swacker had a series of over 600. Don't know her exact score but any one who bowls a 600 series is to be congratulated.

IMPERIALETTS

Crown 4/Progressive 0; A & B 3/DeLine 1; L & A 3/Belltones 1; Kroger 3/ Standard 1.

Frances Riesbeck, bowling for Belltones, had high game with a 202, and Ruth Ann Templeton, bowling for L & A, took high series with a 472. One highlight of the L & A team was the fact that three of the five girls bowled a 425 series. Darla Carter, Flora Crouthers, and Dot Meunier were the three.

ROYAL KEGLERS

Holyfield 4/ DebEllen 0; 1st. National Bank 4/ Mutual of Omaha 0; Pucketts 4/Busch 0; Lewis 3/Bank of Sikeston 1; Alcorn 3/ Ferrells 1.

Jean Lee was high again this week in the series department with a 554; but Mary Meyers with a 508 and Betty Estes with a 502 did some good bowling too. Betty Estes also had high game with 192.

DELTA KEGLERS

Liberty 3/ Potlatch 1; El Capri 2 1/2 / Ziegenhorn 1 1/2; Barketts 2/ Wades 2; Reiss 2/ Campbell Farms 2.

Brenda Boardman with about a 135 average really tore up the lanes Wednesday night with a big 223 game and a 568 series.

Rovina Ralph (Beanie) is scheduled to have some pretty serious surgery today. Beanie bowls on Tuesday morning and Wednesday night. So hurry up and get back on your feet and at least come out and visit us some Tuesday morning Beanie. We'll miss you!

Pretty Ham-Rice Dish Takes Fruit Duo for Interest

Ham never goes out of style because there are so many ways to serve it.

Though it comes to the holiday table as a whole or shank half, it can follow soon afterwards as an inch thick slice with fruit and rice, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Pretty pink frozen rhubarb makes a delectable combination with canned crushed pineapple to spread over the rice. Top with the ham slice and simply bake for an hour.

Ham Slice On Fruited Rice

- 1 smoked ham slice, cut 1-inch thick
- 2 cups cooked rice
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- 1 package (16 ounces) frozen rhubarb, thawed
- 1 can (8¾ ounces) crushed pineapple

Grease a 12 x 8-inch baking dish. Combine rice, celery, rhubarb and pineapple. Pour into baking dish. Place ham slice on top. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) 1 hour. 4 to 6 servings.

THIS DRAWING shows Fellowship Baptist Church, 228 Missouri Ave., following improvements to the educational facilities that were begun this week. Construction should be completed by March.

Improvements To Church Facilities Underway

Fellowship Baptist Church, 228 Missouri Ave., began construction this week on its educational facilities. The existing educational plant will be completely remodeled and renovated.

Rev. James Fitch, pastor of the church, states that the improvements will include several new and revolutionary ideas in religious educational facilities; the building will have carpeted floors and wood panel walls in all classrooms and hallways. The Rev. Mr. Fitch says that to his knowledge this is the first such use of these materials in Baptist educational facilities in Southeast Missouri and possibly the entire midwest United States. It signals a profound revolution in educational psychology and environment.

Construction is under way at present and should be completed by March this year.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I gave birth to my first child. When I awoke from the anesthetic my doctor was standing by the bed. He told me our little girl lived only ten minutes. He explained that she had a heart defect and if she had survived she would have been an invalid.

A person who has not experienced this tragedy cannot know what it is like to carry a child for nine months and come from the hospital with empty arms. I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy.

The same night my mother and two sisters came to see me. They said I should consider myself lucky that the baby didn't live. They said that to have an invalid child is the most terrible thing that can happen to a mother.

I loved that child and I would have loved her sick or well. What can I say to them when they talk crazy like that? Or am I the one who is crazy?--NEEDING ANSWERS

Dear Needing Answers: Your mother and sisters are attempting to comfort you. The ability to accept in life what you are powerless to change is one of the secrets of peace of mind.

Dear Ann Landers: That 17-year-old boy whose mother found 40 pictures of nude males under his mattress is hooked. No amount of family doctoring or friendly conseling is going to make any difference.

My father found my collection of nude males when I was 15. Two years of doctors and psychologists left me a nervous wreck. They tried to change something that isn't changeable. Finally, a college freshman counselor helped me accept the fact that being different isn't the same as being damned.

Today I'm a Ph.D. in physics. I work for a large industrial concern. The few people who know of my problem look at it the same way I look at someone who wears dentures -- different but still a satisfactory way to live.

The best thing Desperate Mother can do for her son is to leave him alone and help him cope with life as it is. -- ODD MAN OUT

Dear Odd Man: I have heard from thousands of homosexuals these past ten years and most of them are unhappy, frightened and lonely. They long to lead normal lives and ask me if psychiatry can help. I must tell them that the chances are slim. (The experts say less than 3 per cent)

I always recommend therapy, however, because while it might not produce a cure, it does help the homosexual to accept himself -- which is what your therapist did for you, whether you realize it or not.

Dear Ann Landers: A very fine young girl whom I will call Katherine babysits for us at least once a week. She is 16 years old. Our children adore her so please don't suggest that I engage someone else.

Katherine is deeply religious, which is admirable, but her religion is different from ours. My husband says Katherine may not know it, but she has a subconscious urge to convert people to her faith. She talks religion to our children everytime she sits and they are becoming confused. Our 10-year-old boy wants to know how come he is told one thing in Sunday School and something else by Katherine. He says, "Both stories can't be true. One of them is wrong."

Please give us some help with this sticky problem.--THE BIG Q.

Dear Big Q: Tell Katherine she confuses your children when she discusses religion with them and that you would like to avoid the subject.

Your children should be told that Katherine's ideas on religion are fine for her but what they learn in Sunday School is what they should believe.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The James A. Tanner family celebrated a late Christmas with a family reunion for their immediate family. Those present were Richard D. Justice, MA 2-U. S. Navy, and wife, Mrs. Carolyn Justice. Mrs. Justice is the former Miss Carolyn Tanner. Their son Rickie accompanied them. They are stationed in Norfolk, Va. The Tanners' son A3C Benjamin Earl Tanner of Kirkland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M., was also present. The couple's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hampton of Creston, Ill., attended. Mrs. Hampton is the former Miss Betty Tanner. Peggy and Mike Tanner were present. Open house was held over the holidays.

New Year's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Adams were Miss Laura Tompson, Southern Baptist W. M. S. State Director, of Nashville, Tenn.; her mother, Mrs. E. S. Tompson and son Ray of Arbyrd; they visited a nursing home with Mrs. Lillie Huggins.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Smith and son Scott of Tulsa, Okla., spent the Christmas holidays with Mrs. J. T. Smith and Harold and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wyman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wyman, Jane and Jimmy, had Christmas dinner Sunday with Mr. Wyman's family, Misses Marguerite and Pauline Wyman of Paris, Tenn., Prof. and Mrs. A. C. Grimes of Mississippi State College and University of Starksville, and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyman and daughter Jean of Streator, Ill.

Oscar Carroll is home from Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff where he underwent surgery. He is reported to be getting along fine.

Modern pork cuts have 36% fewer calories than they formerly had. Part of this is due to the fact that a leaner type hog is being produced and marketed, giving most cuts 57% less fat than they had previously.

Average servings of cooked pork (3½ ounces) give an adult man 40% of his daily protein quota. At the same time he will also get 69% of his daily thiamine (vitamin B_1) requirement. In spite of all this, he will have only taken less than eight per cent of his total calorie allowance!

Betty Lou Trost Is Wed To Ensign Walter Finney

CHAFFEE -- Miss Betty Lou Trost and Ensign Walter Finney plighted their troth Sunday afternoon Dec. 26, in post-Christmas nuptials performed by the Rev. E. D. Owen of Cape Girardeau, retired Baptist minister.

The double ring ceremony was read in the First Baptist Church between baskets of white mums and tall candelabra flanking the baptistry.

Miss Trost is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Trost and Mr. Finney is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Finney, all Chaffee residents.

Miss Ruth Ellen Huey was at the organ and Mrs. Raymond Dame was vocalist. Candles were lighted by the ushers, Larry Cook of St. Louis and Bill Phillips.

The bride wore a floor-length peau de soie gown fashioned with a bodice of Chantilly lace with batteau neckline and petal pointed sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was followed by a watteau chapel train fastened in front with a bow. She carried white roses centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Tommy Shoemaker of Perkins, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and another sister, Mrs. William Phillips, joined Miss Marilyn Dobbs of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Carolyn Allwood as bridesmaids. All wore floor-length gowns of red velvet and carried bouquets of red and white roses.

Cynthia Phillips, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Mark Varble was ringbearer. Norman Finney of Jackson, Tenn., brother of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were Walter Parks Jr., of East St. Louis, Ill., Eugene Stewart of Mobile, Ala., and Jack Maxwell.

A reception followed. Serving were Miss Reba Jones and Miss Carolyn Anderson. Mrs. Eugene Stewart of Mobile, Ala., the bridegroom's sister, was at the guest book.

Mr. Finney is stationed at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. Mrs. Finney was graduated from the high school here and attended State College. They will make their home in Pensacola.

HOMEMAKERS ARE DEMANDING BIGGER HOMES, MORE BATHROOMS

The average home built in 1965 was over 10 percent larger than the one erected a decade ago, according to the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. This increase is almost certainly due to a demand for more bathrooms, larger kitchens and family rooms, in that order of importance, the Bureau says.

Keglers Korner

By Hildred Poole

Hello! Happy New Year! It just doesn't seem possible that this is already the start of a new year. I've always been told "the older you get the shorter the years seem" and I dread it when they get any shorter than they are now.

Very little league bowling was done this last week but was told I missed one very good score last time. Peggy Swacker had a series of over 600. Don't know her exact score but any one who bowls a 600 series is to be congratulated.

IMPERIALETTS

Crown 4/Progressive 0; A & B 3/DeLine 1; L & A 3/Belltones 1; Kroger 3/ Standard 1.

Frances Riesbeck, bowling for Belltones, had high game with a 202, and Ruth Ann Templeton, bowling for L & A, took high series with a 472. One highlight of the L & A team was the fact that three of the five girls bowled a 425 series. Darla Carter, Flora Crouthers, and Dot Meunier were the three.

ROYAL KEGLERS

Holyfield 4/ DebEllen 0; 1st. National Bank 4/ Mutual of Omaha 0; Pucketts 4/Busch 0; Lewis 3/Bank of Sikeston 1; Alcorn 3/ Ferrells 1.

Jean Lee was high again this week in the series department with a 554; but Mary Meyers with a 508 and Betty Estes with a 502 did some good bowling too. Betty Estes also had high game with 192.

DELTA KEGLERS

Liberty 3/ Potlatch 1; El Capri 2 1/2 / Ziegenhorn 1 1/2; Barketts 2/ Wades 2; Reiss 2/ Campbell Farms 2.

Brenda Boardman with about a 135 average really tore up the lanes Wednesday night with a big 223 game and a 568 series.

Rovina Ralph (Beanie) is scheduled to have some pretty serious surgery today. Beanie bowls on Tuesday morning and Wednesday night. So hurry up and get back on your feet and at least come out and visit us some Tuesday morning Beanie. We'll miss you!

Pretty Ham-Rice Dish Takes Fruit Duo for Interest

Ham never goes out of style because there are so many ways to serve it.

Though it comes to the holiday table as a whole or shank half, it can follow soon afterwards as an inch thick slice with fruit and rice, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Pretty pink frozen rhubarb makes a delectable combination with canned crushed pineapple to spread over the rice. Top with the ham slice and simply bake for an hour.

Ham Slice On Fruited Rice

- 1 smoked ham slice, cut 1-inch thick
- 2 cups cooked rice
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- 1 package (16 ounces) frozen rhubarb, thawed
- 1 can (8¾ ounces) crushed pineapple

Grease a 12 x 8-inch baking dish. Combine rice, celery, rhubarb and pineapple. Pour into baking dish. Place ham slice on top. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) 1 hour. 4 to 6 servings.

THIS DRAWING shows Fellowship Baptist Church, 228 Missouri Ave., following improvements to the educational facilities that were begun this week. Construction should be completed by March.

Improvements To Church Facilities Underway

Fellowship Baptist Church, 228 Missouri Ave., began construction this week on its educational facilities. The existing educational plant will be completely remodeled and renovated.

Rev. James Fitch, pastor of the church, states that the improvements will include several new and revolutionary ideas in religious educational facilities; the building will have carpeted floors and wood panel walls in all classrooms and hallways. The Rev. Mr. Fitch says that to his knowledge this is the first such use of these materials in Baptist educational facilities in Southeast Missouri and possibly the entire midwest United States. It signals a profound revolution in educational psychology and environment.

Construction is under way at present and should be completed by March this year.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I gave birth to my first child. When I awoke from the anesthetic my doctor was standing by the bed. He told me our little girl lived only ten minutes. He explained that she had a heart defect and if she had survived she would have been an invalid.

A person who has not experienced this tragedy cannot know what it is like to carry a child for nine months and come from the hospital with empty arms. I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy.

The same night my mother and two sisters came to see me. They said I should consider myself lucky that the baby didn't live. They said that to have an invalid child is the most terrible thing that can happen to a mother.

I loved that child and I would have loved her sick or well. What can I say to them when they talk crazy like that? Or am I the one who is crazy?--NEEDING ANSWERS

Dear Needing Answers: Your mother and sisters are attempting to comfort you. The ability to accept in life what you are powerless to change is one of the secrets of peace of mind.

Alabama Number One in AP Poll

Alabama is the first team to win consecutive national titles since Oklahoma accomplished the feat in 1955 and 1956. 'Bama's two straight championships go with the 1961 title to make it three in five years for Bryant, who formerly coached at Texas A&M and Kentucky.

The three championships give Alabama permanent possession of the AP trophy, which goes to the first team to win three titles since the trophy has been up for competition. The trophy was put up for competition in 1957.

Another trophy will be put up next season.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc:

1.	Alabama (37)	9-1- 537
2.	Michigan S. (18)	10-1-479
3.	Arkansas (1)	10-1-413
4.	UCLA (1)	8-2-1 391
5.	Nebraska	10-1 358

Duke and Kentucky Rated One and Two In AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, Providence, Texas Western and UCLA, each a winner of a holiday tournament last week, have gained considerable ground in the latest Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Duke remains a solid leader, while unbeaten Kentucky rushed up to take second place.

The Blue Devils from Durham, N.C., garnered 389 points, including 10 for each of the 34 first place votes they received in the balloting by a special panel of 42 regional experts.

Duke has won seven games in a row, including victories over Notre Dame and Wake Forest last week that lifted its record to 9-1.

Kentucky advanced from fifth to second after beating Notre Dame 103-69 for its eighth in a row. The Wildcats had five first-place votes and 299 points.

Vanderbilt is third. Then came St. Joseph's, Bradley, Providence, Iowa, Brigham Young, Texas Western and UCLA. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

Vanderbilt, the runner-up a week ago, slipped to third after losing to Southern California in the Los Angeles Classic. It was the Commodores' first loss of the season.

St. Joseph's, winners of the Quaker City Tournament, climbed from eighth to fourth. The Hawks are 9-2. Bradley fell two places to fifth after losing to Indiana. Providence, the ECAC Holiday Festival champion, jumped from 10th to sixth.

Iowa, loser to Texas Western in the Sun Bowl final, dropped from fourth to seventh. The triumph helped Texas Western, 10-0, move into the No. 9 spot. The Miners were unranked last week.

Brigham Young slipped two notches to eighth after losing for the first time, 71-69 to LaSalle. UCLA, the 1964-65 NCAA champion, moved back into the rankings. The Bruins took over 10th place after winning the Los Angeles Classic.

Michigan, No. 7 a week ago, and Minnesota, No. 9, dropped out of the Top Ten. The Wolverines have lost four games and the Gophers three.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, records through games of Saturday, Jan. 1, and total points on a 10-9-8-7, etc. basis:

1.	Duke (34) 9-1	389
2.	Kentucky (5) 8-0	299
3.	Vanderbilt (1) 10-1	260
4.	St. Joseph's, Pa. 9-2	197

Kentucky Over St. Louis 80-70

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A trip of city slickers from New York have brought schoolyard basketball to cowboy country and nobody at Texas Western minds the infiltration.

The Miners rolled to their 11th straight victory Monday night, whipping Tulsa 63-54 at El Paso, as 5-foot-6 Willie Worsley led the attack with 18 points.

Worsley, reserve forward Willie Cager, and 6-foot-7 Nevil Shed, who says he's an inch taller and is the club's second best scorer, all learned their basketball on concrete courts in New York.

The ninth-ranked Miners started slowly but opened a 13-point lead by halftime and then coasted the rest of the way.

Three other ranked teams including Kentucky, the only other undefeated club, also won Monday night.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats protected their No. 2 ranking with an 80-70 decision over St. Louis. Pat Riley and Louie Dampier paced Kentucky to its ninth straight, Riley scoring 24 and Dampier 20. Rich Parks led the visiting Billikens with 22.

Top-ranked Duke got 25 points from Jack Marin and 21 from Mike Lewis including 10 for 10 from the floor, and rapped Penn State 83-58, at Durham, N.C. The Nittany Lions, who won the Gator Bowl tourney last week, fell behind early and never recovered as Duke ran its record to 10-1.

Bradley, rated No. 5, scored its 11th victory in 12 starts with a 99-52 romp over St. Thomas of Minnesota. Ed Jackson with 21 points and Joe Allen with 20 led the Braves, who shot a sizzling 58 per cent on their home court at Peoria, Ill.

Dayton, 9-1, ripped Xavier 105-79 with sophomore Don May pumping in 45 points, second highest total in Flyer history. Henry Finkel, who scored 44 for Dayton last week, was held to nine, the second lowest total in his three-year varsity career.

Touring Syracuse ran into hot-shooting Creighton and bowed 103-87. Sophomore Wally Andersunas led the winners with 23 including 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Syracuse's Dave Bing, averaging 31 points, managed just 20.

Dorrie Murray grabbed 32 rebounds and Lou Hyatt hit 22 points as Detroit whipped visiting West Texas State 68-57. Junior Gee's 20-foot jump shot with 20 seconds to play gave Miami an 88-87 thriller over Utah at Miami, Fla.

In Big Eight conference openers, Kansas ripped visiting Colorado 69-55 with four men in double figures. Kansas State's 7-foot-1 Nick Pino hit 19 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as the Wildcats downed Missouri 78-59 at Columbia. Oklahoma took Oklahoma State 64-53 at Norman.

In Southeastern Conference openers, Tennessee took Tulane 64-46 at Knoxville and Florida nipped Alabama 56-53 at Gainsville, Fla.

Gen. Winfield Scott acquired the nickname of "Old Fuss and Feathers" because of his love for colorful military ceremonies and uniforms.

Valley Teams Lose Two On Road

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri Valley conference teams took on the nation's two remaining undefeated major college basektball teams and lost twice, both on the road.

St. Louis was beaten 80-70 Monday night by second-ranked Kentucky, which made it nine straight. Tulsa took on 9th-ranked Texas Western at El Paso and lost 63-54. It was Western's 11th straight.

Bradley was the only Valley winner Monday night. The fifth-ranked Braves made their record 11-1 by drubbing outclassed St. Thomas of Minnesota 99-52 at Peoria.

North Texas took its fifth defeat in its last six games, losing 88-81 to a shorter but hot-shooting South Dakota State club at Brookings, S.D.

The losing night left the Valley with a still-impressive 57-22 won - lost record this season against outside opposition, 12-16 on the road.

Rich Parks with 22 points led St. Louis, which was never closer than 66-60 in the last half. Tulsa, now 10-3 for the season, couldn't stop Western's pint-sized backliners, 5-foot-6 Willie Worsley and 5-10 Bobby Joe Hill and fell 13 points behind at halftime.

Wichita's Jamie Thompson stayed on top in individual scoring with a 23.4 average with Bradley's Joe Allen next at 21.6. Westley Unseld of Louisville has 20.3, Ron Rolfes of Cincinnati 18.4, Bob Netolicky of Drake 18.2, Roland West of Cincy 16.8, Melvin Reed of Wichita 16.6, Willie Davis of North Texas 16.5 and Dale Abshire of North Texas 16.3.

Unseld is the rebound leader with a 20.7 average. Bradley's Alex McNutt leads in field goal shooting at .672 and Gene Demaree of Tulsa in free throwing at .964 although missing for the first time Monday.

The Valley race resumes Thursday night with Wichita at Bradley, Cincy at North Texas, Drake at St. Louis and Louisville at Tulsa.

Football Cards Sign Four Draft Choices

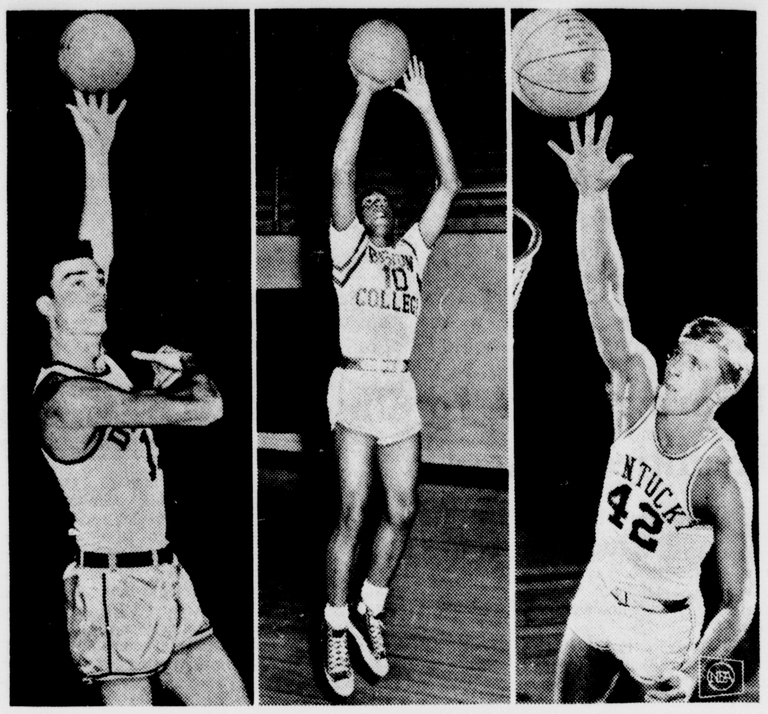

ST. LOUIS AP -- The St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League announced today the signing of four draft choices, including Roy Shivers, the nation's fourth best rusher.

The other three, all from the Big Eight Conference, were Mike Ringer, 10th round, a defensive back from Oklahoma; Jim Brown, 13th round, Nebraska tackle, and Dick Kasperek, 16th round, center from Iowa State.

Shivers, 6 feet, 200 pounds, was picked last year as a two-year future from Utah State. He gained 1,138 yards on 189 carries for a six-yard average and 16 touchdowns.

Character is much easier kept than recovered.

Alabama Quarter back Steve Sloan, Nursing Sore Ribs

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan, nursing some sore ribs bruised during his Orange Bowl appearance, was expected to practice today with the South All-Stars for Saturday's annual Senior Bowl football game.

Sloan, who shattered all-time Alabama passing records and a couple of Orange Bowl marks too, was examined by the Senior Bowl physician Monday after he and three other Crimson Tide players arrived from Miami.

The South All-Stars ran through their first practice sessions Monday, with the quarterback chores being handled by Randy Johnson of Texas A&I. Johnson spurred the South to a victory in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery on Christmas Day.

The North Stars also worked out, suiting up in sweat clothes for a session. Tulsa's Bill Anderson directed the North offensive unit. With him in the backfield were Bob Daughtery of Tulsa, Don Kunit of Penn State and Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State.

The Rebels are being coached by Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets of the AFL. Head coach for the North is Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots.

Springfield and Kirksville Win Easily

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Bears and Kirksville Bulldogs won easy basketball victories with hot shooting over nonconference teams Monday night.

The Bears shot nearly 50 per cent in beating Oklahoma Christian 100-51 at Springfield. Jim Gant led the charge with 25 points and Dan Bolden added 19. Springfield has a 10-1 record, Christian 7-7.

The Bulldogs sank 24 of 28 free throws and defeated Parsons College of Iowa 78-64 at Kirksville. The halftime score was 34-34, then Kirksville went 18-18 at the free throw line in the second half and that was too much for the Iowans.

Dave Taylor led the Bulldogs with 20 points, 10 of them on free throws.

Cards Reported To Have Signed Johnny Rowland

ST. LOUIS AP -- Two newspapers have reported that the St. Louis Cardinals paid more than $600,000 to outbid American Football League clubs for two players the Cardinals announced they signed Sunday.

The St. Louis Globe - Democrat said the Cardinals signed Missouri halfback Johny Roland to a three-year, no-cut contract in which he reportedly will receive more than $300,000, including bonuses.

The Detroit Free Press said Michigan State defensive tackle Harold Lucas was signed on a five - year, no - cut basis calling for an estimated $325,000.

The National Football league Cardinals did not disclose the terms.

Roland was the No. 1 future choice of the New York Jets of the AFL in 1964 and Lucas was chosen second by the Cardinals and was first draft choice of the Boston Patriots of the AFL last year.

Alabama Number One in AP Poll

Alabama is the first team to win consecutive national titles since Oklahoma accomplished the feat in 1955 and 1956. 'Bama's two straight championships go with the 1961 title to make it three in five years for Bryant, who formerly coached at Texas A&M and Kentucky.

The three championships give Alabama permanent possession of the AP trophy, which goes to the first team to win three titles since the trophy has been up for competition. The trophy was put up for competition in 1957.

Another trophy will be put up next season.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc:

Duke and Kentucky Rated One and Two In AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, Providence, Texas Western and UCLA, each a winner of a holiday tournament last week, have gained considerable ground in the latest Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Duke remains a solid leader, while unbeaten Kentucky rushed up to take second place.

The Blue Devils from Durham, N.C., garnered 389 points, including 10 for each of the 34 first place votes they received in the balloting by a special panel of 42 regional experts.

Duke has won seven games in a row, including victories over Notre Dame and Wake Forest last week that lifted its record to 9-1.

Kentucky advanced from fifth to second after beating Notre Dame 103-69 for its eighth in a row. The Wildcats had five first-place votes and 299 points.

Vanderbilt is third. Then came St. Joseph's, Bradley, Providence, Iowa, Brigham Young, Texas Western and UCLA. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

Vanderbilt, the runner-up a week ago, slipped to third after losing to Southern California in the Los Angeles Classic. It was the Commodores' first loss of the season.

St. Joseph's, winners of the Quaker City Tournament, climbed from eighth to fourth. The Hawks are 9-2. Bradley fell two places to fifth after losing to Indiana. Providence, the ECAC Holiday Festival champion, jumped from 10th to sixth.

Iowa, loser to Texas Western in the Sun Bowl final, dropped from fourth to seventh. The triumph helped Texas Western, 10-0, move into the No. 9 spot. The Miners were unranked last week.

Brigham Young slipped two notches to eighth after losing for the first time, 71-69 to LaSalle. UCLA, the 1964-65 NCAA champion, moved back into the rankings. The Bruins took over 10th place after winning the Los Angeles Classic.

Michigan, No. 7 a week ago, and Minnesota, No. 9, dropped out of the Top Ten. The Wolverines have lost four games and the Gophers three.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, records through games of Saturday, Jan. 1, and total points on a 10-9-8-7, etc. basis:

Springfield and Kirksville Win Easily

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Bears and Kirksville Bulldogs won easy basketball victories with hot shooting over nonconference teams Monday night.

The Bears shot nearly 50 per cent in beating Oklahoma Christian 100-51 at Springfield. Jim Gant led the charge with 25 points and Dan Bolden added 19. Springfield has a 10-1 record, Christian 7-7.

The Bulldogs sank 24 of 28 free throws and defeated Parsons College of Iowa 78-64 at Kirksville. The halftime score was 34-34, then Kirksville went 18-18 at the free throw line in the second half and that was too much for the Iowans.

Dave Taylor led the Bulldogs with 20 points, 10 of them on free throws.

Stetson defeated Washington of St. Louis 85-60 in the Hatters tournament at Deland, Fla.

Bulldogs Busy At Home

Sikeston will have a tough second half, as they play some of the area's top ten teams.

Two successvie home games face the Bulldogs this week, as Coach Gene Dawson struggles to get his team back in the SEMO area division race.

Thursday night at the Armory, the Bulldogs will face the Scott Central Braves. The Bulldogs will also be at the armory Saturday night to play the Kennett Indians.

On Tuesday night of next week the Bulldogs take to the road and travel to Caruthersville. The Bulldogs lost their last outing before the holiday rest, and will try to regain their winning ways Thursday night at the armory.

Cards Reported To Have Signed Johnny Rowland

ST. LOUIS AP -- Two newspapers have reported that the St. Louis Cardinals paid more than $600,000 to outbid American Football League clubs for two players the Cardinals announced they signed Sunday.

The St. Louis Globe - Democrat said the Cardinals signed Missouri halfback Johny Roland to a three-year, no-cut contract in which he reportedly will receive more than $300,000, including bonuses.

The Detroit Free Press said Michigan State defensive tackle Harold Lucas was signed on a five - year, no - cut basis calling for an estimated $325,000.

The National Football league Cardinals did not disclose the terms.

Roland was the No. 1 future choice of the New York Jets of the AFL in 1964 and Lucas was chosen second by the Cardinals and was first draft choice of the Boston Patriots of the AFL last year.

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. AP --The daily double for the first night of harness racing at Pompano Park for 1966 was 6-6 Monday night.

Sherry Dares won the first race as an outsider at $21.80 while the favored Maverick Grattan took the second at $5.40.

The unusual daily double payoff was worth $76.20.

Horse Sense—and the Mustang Six

I don't know much about engines.
If mine's smooth, powerful and gives great gas mileage, I'm satisfied.
That's why I got a Mustang Six.

You don't have to be an engineer to appreciate the Mustang Six. Just get comfortable in one of those deep-foam bucket seats, fire up that husky 200-cu. in. powerplant . . . and let yourself go.

Nor do you have to be an investment banker to realize you've made a great buy. Standard Mustang Six luxury includes: all vinyl upholstery; plush wall-to-wall carpeting; padded instrument panel and many other extras at no extra cost.

Sound sweet? Mustang makes lots of nice sounds. Optional stereo-sonic tape is one. Another is money jingling in your pocket, thanks to Mustang Six's meager appetite for gasoline.

See for yourself. Stop in at your Ford Dealer's and test-drive America's runaway success car.

THE Outlook for Business for the first six months of 1966

Harmon S. Eberhard
Chairman of the Board
Caterpillar Tractor Co.

CONSTRUCTION MACHINERY INDUSTRY

Sales of construction machinery during 1965 gained 12 per cent over 1964, continuing the year-to-year gains which have been enjoyed since 1962. Sales during the first half of 1966 are expected to remain at the current high level. Dealers' inventories are now lower than desired for the volume of business in prospect, and efforts to rebuild dealer stocks, along with heavy requirements of contractors during the spring months, will cause over-all demand to remain high.

Highway construction, the most important market for heavy equipment, is expected to increase 5 per cent during 1966 over the favorable 1965 level. Interstate System mileage open to traffic passed the 20,000 mile mark in October. More than 6,000 miles are under construction, and preliminary engineering has been completed on all but 8 per cent of the proposed 41,000 mile system. The Bureau of Public Roads is confident that funds can be raised to assure completion of the Interstate System on schedule at the end of 1972.

Development of our water resources will create increased demand for construction machinery. The Columbia River project will move ahead with a start on the Libby Dam in Montana. Among the contracts expected to reach the bid stage within the next several months are those for the Mica Dam, largest of the three dams on the Canadian side of the Columbia River; the $115 million New Bullards Bar Dam in the Yuba River project in California; the $282 million Auburn Dam in California; and the proposed Cochiti Dam in New Mexico.

Water shortages in the Northeast have accelerated planning in that area, and a study of the water needs of the New England states won House approval during the last session of Congress. Water resource development is one of the dynamic markets for construction machinery, and during 1966, expenditures on dam and other water projects are expected to increase by 5 per cent over 1965.

Surveys made late in the year indicate an 8 per cent rise in capital spending is in prospect next year over the record level of 1965. Businessmen are planning to spend $55 billion on new plant and equipment during 1966, and most of the $4 billion increase will occur during the first half of the year. The rate of increase in anticipated expenditures for office buildings, stores and shopping centers, and educational buildings will generally exceed that for new plant facilities. Equipment used in demolition and in site development work will be in strong demand during the first half of the year.

Defense spending eased in the first half of 1965, but supplementary appropriations may add $5 billion to expenditures before the end of this fiscal year on next June 30. Other federal programs, including space outlays, have increased about 10 per cent in each of the last two fiscal years and are expected to continue to rise in 1966.

Housing starts remained about level during 1965 at 1.5 million units. This volume of homebuilding appears low relative to income levels and the rate of family formation. An increase in residential building is probable by midyear for single unit houses and apartments.

Sales of construction machinery outside the United States increased during 1965 as manufacturers were better able to supply customer needs. Earnings of the raw material producing countries are holding up well, increasing the ability of these countries to add much needed development tools. The high level of business in the United States and, for the most part, in Western Europe has yielded generally favorable prices for metals and fibers. The sales level of construction equipment in the countries dependent on these commodities, such as those in Africa and Australia, has been correspondingly good. Food commodity prices have declined steadily which has severely limited the ability of Latin American countries to import capital goods. Several important loans have been made by the World Bank which will support construction machinery sales during the first half of 1966. With World Bank aid, Japan will spend $84 million on an expressway in Kobe. Peru has received foreign assistance for a $56 million addition to the Trans-Andean Highway.

In summary, the demand for construction machinery is expected to remain strong to meet the needs of busy highway, water resource, industrial plant, and other builders during the first half of 1966. Heavy equipment dealers throughout the world are generally low on inventory, and they will attempt to build stocks during the early months of the year. All of these forces acting together spell good business for manufacturers in the months immediately ahead.

Ho Chi Minh Holds Key to Peace Bids

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The key to success or failure of Viet Nam peace bids may rest in the fragile hands of an ancient revolutionary caught in the titanic struggle for power between the world's two Communist giants.

Ho Chi Minh at 75 has had half a century of tumultuous activity in the cause of international communism as a tactician of revolution. Today "Uncle Ho," as president of North Viet Nam, confronts a situation that may seem insoluble.

As an internationalist, Ho probably is inclined to follow Moscow's lead. That might mean making the best of a dangerous situation and waiting patiently for a better opportunity.

But Ho has a huge neighbor on his northern frontier: Red China. Legendary though he may be as the architect of revolution in the Orient, Ho seems captive of a majority faction of his own politburo which follows Peking's lead.

The paradoxical Ho, a poetic, mandarin-like figure who, despite his violent career always seemed a believer in the easiest and least bloody way to power, appears to be boxed in.

The pro-Chinese faction in Hanoi is headed by Truong Chinh, chairman of the North Viet Nam National Assembly. Truong Chinh's name means "long march." His original name was Dang Xuan Khu, but he changed it after taking part in the historic march of Mao's forces in the Communist war for domination of the China mainland.

The pro-Chinese faction evidently took over in Hanoi last April in a sudden shakeup of the North Vietnamese Communist hierarchy. The dominant faction evidently subscribes to the Chinese formula of violent "people's war" as the only effective road to world communism."

From time to time there had been evidence that Ho was willing to listen to some sort of formula to end the bloodletting.

Viet Nam faces the dubious choice of progressive destruction from U. S. bombing or massive influx of Chinese who could forever kill off any trace of Vietnamese independence.

But Ho does not appear to be a free agent. His current statements reflect the granite-hard line. They also reflect the Soviet-Chinese struggle.

Moscow is sending the No. 2 man of the Soviet Communist party, Alexander N. Shelepin, to Hanoi. His mission undoubtedly is to make Soviet influence paramount. If he is successful, that could lead eventually to some sort of accommodation with the United States, since the U.S.S.R. must regard the Southeast Asia situation as highly dangerous and certainly as one which stands in the way of a Soviet ambition to build up the U.S.S.R.'s internal economy.

The Soviet thrust will not go uncontested. Red China attacks Moscow with renewed fury. The official newspaper People's Daily accuses the Russians of "behind - scenes bargaining" with the Americans on Viet Nam.

Peking has suffered serious diplomatic and political reverses in 1965. It makes clear it wants the war in Viet Nam to continue. The war offers a prospect of bleeding and weakening the United States, and it has become a club with which Peking can attempt to beat the Russians out of the camp of militant revolutionaries.

Evidently content with a longer - range view of revolution which might be less dangerous to Soviet security, the Russians are promising North Viet Nam massive economic, technical and military aid which the Chinese cannot match.

As of this moment, the pro-Chinese faction apparently remains in control in Hanoi, and seems to have dominant influence over the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front. It broadcasts that its position on negotiations is "firmer than ever" because "we are stronger than ever."

The world danger in Southeast Asia is obvious, especially to a Soviet regime which could be drawn into it and into a confrontation with the Americans.

The Russians will concentrate attention on March 29, the opening of the 23rd Soviet Communist Party Congress. There, the Soviet leadership is expected to reaffirm practically every policy developed since 1956. When this happens, the break with China will be just about unbridgeable. The Russians hope to have the North Viet Nam party and most others of importance on their side in the world Communist dispute.

Then the ancient who is the father figure of revolution in the Orient, Ho Chi Minh, may be better able to come forward with some sort of offer which could end the Viet Nam fighting.

Wallace Says Wife Would Win Election

MONTGOMERY, Ala. AP - "If Lurleen runs," said husband George C. Wallace, "she'll win."

And, the governor of Alabama added, "I'll campaign for her. We'll probably campaign together."

He hastily emphasized that no decision has been made on whether his attractive wife, 39, will be a candidate next year to succeed him. But he made no attempt to discourage the speculation.

Wallace also left unanswered in an interview the equally pertinent question of his own political future -- whether he plans to run for the U.S. Senate in the Democratic primary next May or return to private life.

"I'm looking forward to the culmination of our educational program and the development of new industry," he said.

"We anticipate a surplus of $75 million in the treasury at the end of my administration. We are closing the gap in our program of providing the best educational facilities possible for both races."

The latter was his only reference to Alabama's racial problems, which in the months gone by had made him an international figure.

He talked mostly about the financial condition of the state, the achievements in education and the development of a new network of junior colleges and trade schools, and the absence of even whispers of a major scandal in his administration.

And he talked eagerly about Mrs. Wallace. "Almost all of the radio polls we have heard about show her leading. Everywhere we go, the people say, 'Governor, we're with you. We'll support your wife if she runs'."

"She has saved the state thousands of dollars by doing away with catering services and doing her own catering when she entertains at the mansion," Wallace continued. "She believes the mansion belongs to the people, and she has entertained more visitors than anyone ever did before — women's clubs, PTA groups, things like that."

Since the governor first let the word out, many weeks ago, that Mrs. Wallace might run, she has been his constant companion in his frequent public appearances.

But an operation for an undisclosed ailment put her in a hospital last November and left her facing still more surgery in the weeks ahead. "It's nothing of a major nature," the governor emphasized. "Her health is all right. She wouldn't think about making a race for governor unless her health was 100 per cent."

Just what does she think about the possibility of running for office?

"We have talked about it," Wallace conceded. "If she runs, I'll campaign for her. But she will get out and meet the people. We'll probably campaign together. And if she gets elected, I'll be her chief adviser. She knows that every governor has to have advisers."

Who would make the decisions if there were a disagreement between husband and wife on matters of state?

"There wouldn't be ay problem there," the governor said, with assurance. "That poblem wouldn't even come up."

THE Outlook for Business

for the first six months of 1966

Harmon S. Eberhard
Chairman of the Board
Caterpillar Tractor Co.

CONSTRUCTION MACHINERY INDUSTRY

Sales of construction machinery during 1965 gained 12 per cent over 1964, continuing the year-to-year gains which have been enjoyed since 1962. Sales during the first half of 1966 are expected to remain at the current high level. Dealers' inventories are now lower than desired for the volume of business in prospect, and efforts to rebuild dealer stocks, along with heavy requirements of contractors during the spring months, will cause over-all demand to remain high.

Highway construction, the most important market for heavy equipment, is expected to increase 5 per cent during 1966 over the favorable 1965 level. Interstate System mileage open to traffic passed the 20,000 mile mark in October. More than 6,000 miles are under construction, and preliminary engineering has been completed on all but 8 per cent of the proposed 41,000 mile system. The Bureau of Public Roads is confident that funds can be raised to assure completion of the Interstate System on schedule at the end of 1972.

Development of our water resources will create increased demand for construction machinery. The Columbia River project will move ahead with a start on the Libby Dam in Montana. Among the contracts expected to reach the bid stage within the next several months are those for the Mica Dam, largest of the three dams on the Canadian side of the Columbia River; the $115 million New Bullards Bar Dam in the Yuba River project in California; the $282 million Auburn Dam in California; and the proposed Cochiti Dam in New Mexico.

Water shortages in the Northeast have accelerated planning in that area, and a study of the water needs of the New England states won House approval during the last session of Congress. Water resource development is one of the dynamic markets for construction machinery, and during 1966, expenditures on dam and other water projects are expected to increase by 5 per cent over 1965.

Surveys made late in the year indicate an 8 per cent rise in capital spending is in prospect next year over the record level of 1965. Businessmen are planning to spend $55 billion on new plant and equipment during 1966, and most of the $4 billion increase will occur during the first half of the year. The rate of increase in anticipated expenditures for office buildings, stores and shopping centers, and educational buildings will generally exceed that for new plant facilities. Equipment used in demolition and in site development work will be in strong demand during the first half of the year.

Defense spending eased in the first half of 1965, but supplementary appropriations may add $5 billion to expenditures before the end of this fiscal year on next June 30. Other federal programs, including space outlays, have increased about 10 per cent in each of the last two fiscal years and are expected to continue to rise in 1966.

Housing stars remained about level during 1965 at 1.5 million units. This volume of homebuilding appears low relative to income levels and the rate of family formation. An increase in residential building is probable by midyear for single unit houses and apartments.

Sales of construction machinery outside the United States increased during 1965 as manufacturers were better able to supply customer needs. Earnings of the raw material producing countries are holding up well, increasing the ability of these countries to add much needed development tools. The high level of business in the United States and, for the most part, in Western Europe has yielded generally favorable prices for metals and fibers. The sales level of construction equipment in the countries dependent on these commodities, such as those in Africa and Australia, has been correspondingly good. Food commodity prices have declined steadily which has severely limited the ability of Latin American countries to import capital goods. Several important loans have been made by the World Bank which will support construction machinery sales during the first half of 1966. With World Bank aid, Japan will spend $84 million on an expressway in Kobe. Peru has received foreign assistance for a $56 million addition to the Trans-Andean Highway.

In summary, the demand for construction machinery is expected to remain strong to meet the needs of busy highway, water resource, industrial plant, and other builders during the first half of 1966. Heavy equipment dealers throughout the world are generally low on inventory, and they will attempt to build stocks during the early months of the year. All of these forces acting together spell good business for manufacturers in the months immediately ahead.

Ho Chi Minh Holds Key to Peace Bids

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The key to success or failure of Viet Nam peace bids may rest in the fragile hands of an ancient revolutionary caught in the titanic struggle for power between the world's two Communist giants.

Ho Chi Minh at 75 has had half a century of tumultuous activity in the cause of international communism as a tactician of revolution. Today "Uncle Ho," as president of North Viet Nam, confronts a situation that may seem insoluble.

As an internationalist, Ho probably is inclined to follow Moscow's lead. That might mean making the best of a dangerous situation and waiting patiently for a better opportunity.

But Ho has a huge neighbor on his northern frontier: Red China. Legendary though he may be as the architect of revolution in the Orient, Ho seems captive of a majority faction of his own politburo which follows Peking's lead.

The paradoxical Ho, a poetic, mandarin-like figure who, despite his violent career always seemed a believer in the easiest and least bloody way to power, appears to be boxed in.

The pro-Chinese faction in Hanoi is headed by Truong Chinh, chairman of the North Viet Nam National Assembly. Truong Chinh's name means "long march." His original name was Dang Xuan Khu, but he changed it after taking part in the historic march of Mao's forces in the Communist war for domination of the China mainland.

The pro-Chinese faction evidently took over in Hanoi last April in a sudden shakeup of the North Vietnamese Communist hierarchy. The dominant faction evidently subscribes to the Chinese formula of violent "people's war" as the only effective road to world communism."

From time to time there had been evidence that Ho was willing to listen to some sort of formula to end the bloodletting.

Viet Nam faces the dubious choice of progressive destruction from U. S. bombing or massive influx of Chinese who could forever kill off any trace of Vietnamese independence.

But Ho does not appear to be a free agent. His current statements reflect the granite-hard line. They also reflect the Soviet-Chinese struggle.

Moscow is sending the No. 2 man of the Soviet Communist party, Alexander N. Shelepin, to Hanoi. His mission undoubtedly is to make Soviet influence paramount. If he is successful, that could lead eventually to some sort of accommodation with the United States, since the U.S.S.R. must regard the Southeast Asia situation as highly dangerous and certainly as one which stands in the way of a Soviet ambition to build up the U.S.S.R.'s internal economy.

The Soviet thrust will not go uncontested. Red China attacks Moscow with renewed fury. The official newspaper People's Daily accuses the Russians of "behind - scenes bargaining" with the Americans on Viet Nam.

Peking has suffered serious diplomatic and political reverses in 1965. It makes clear it wants the war in Viet Nam to continue. The war offers a prospect of bleeding and weakening the United States, and it has become a club with which Peking can attempt to beat the Russians out of the camp of militant revolutionaries.

Evidently content with a longer - range view of revolution which might be less dangerous to Soviet security, the Russians are promising North Viet Nam massive economic, technical and military aid which the Chinese cannot match.

As of this moment, the pro-Chinese faction apparently remains in control in Hanoi, and seems to have dominant influence over the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front. It broadcasts that its position on negotiations is "firmer than ever" because "we are stronger than ever."

The world danger in Southeast Asia is obvious, especially to a Soviet regime which could be drawn into it and into a confrontation with the Americans.

The Russians will concentrate attention on March 29, the opening of the 23rd Soviet Communist Party Congress. There, the Soviet leadership is expected to reaffirm practically every policy developed since 1956. When this happens, the break with China will be just about unbridgeable. The Russians hope to have the North Viet Nam party and most others of importance on their side in the world Communist dispute.

Then the ancient who is the father figure of revolution in the Orient, Ho Chi Minh, may be better able to come forward with some sort of offer which could end the Viet Nam fighting.

Wallace Says Wife Would Win Election

MONTGOMERY, Ala. AP - "If Lurleen runs," said husband George C. Wallace, "she'll win."

And, the governor of Alabama added, "I'll campaign for her. We'll probably campaign together."

He hastily emphasized that no decision has been made on whether his attractive wife, 39, will be a candidate next year to succeed him. But he made no attempt to discourage the speculation.

Wallace also left unanswered in an interview the equally pertinent question of his own political future -- whether he plans to run for the U.S. Senate in the Democratic primary next May or return to private life.

"I'm looking forward to the culmination of our educational program and the development of new industry," he said.

"We anticipate a surplus of $75 million in the treasury at the end of my administration. We are closing the gap in our program of providing the best educational facilities possible for both races."

The latter was his only reference to Alabama's racial problems, which in the months gone by had made him an international figure.

He talked mostly about the financial condition of the state, the achievements in education and the development of a new network of junior colleges and trade schools, and the absence of even whispers of a major scandal in his administration.

And he talked eagerly about Mrs. Wallace. "Almost all of the radio" polls we have heard about show her leading. Everywhere we go, the people say, 'Governor, we're with you. We'll support your wife if she runs'."

"She has saved the state thousands of dollars by doing away with catering services and doing her own catering when she entertains at the mansion," Wallace continued. "She believes the mansion belongs to the people, and she has entertained more visitors than anyone ever did before — women's clubs, PTA groups, things like that."

Since the governor first let the word out, many weeks ago, that Mrs. Wallace might run, she has been his constant companion in his frequent public appearances.

But an operation for an undisclosed ailment put her in a hospital last November and left her facing still more surgery in the weeks ahead. "It's nothing of a major nature," the governor emphasized. "Her health is all right. She wouldn't think about making a race for governor unless her health was 100 per cent."

Just what does she think about the possibility of running for office?

"We have talked about it," Wallace conceded. "If she runs, I'll campaign for her. But she will get out and meet the people. We'll probably campaign together. And if she gets elected, I'll be her chief adviser. She knows that every governor has to have advisers."

Who would make the decisions if there were a disagreement between husband and wife on matters of state?

"There wouldn't be ay problem there," the governor said, with assurance. "That poblem wouldn't even come up."

The way history is taught in school today, it's almost as fresh as yesterday's front page. If you had kept a file of the paper for last year and the year before that, your youngster would have a head start towards honors in current events.

You can do still better than that.

By obtaining a copy of THE WORLD IN 1965 — and, if you didn't get one already, of THE WORLD IN 1964—you can provide him with an educational tool that will set him apart.

No dry-as-dust yearbook, THE WORLD IN 1965 contains all the facts but recounts in dramatic, telling detail the big events, the interesting events, the significant events, of the year. The quality of the hundreds of news photos, in color and black and white, rivals that of the text.

This big, 288-page, handsome book, costing only $3, has been prepared by the world's foremost news gathering agency, The Associated Press, which cooperates with this newspaper in supplying you with the news of the nation and the world.

To obtain your copy of THE WORLD IN 1965, fill out and mail the coupon at once. The book will be ready in February.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rolla, Mo.
Dec. 31, 1965

Hon. Richard Ichord
Congressman, 8th Mo.
Armed Services Comm.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Dick,

Having returned from the Pacific cruise on the missile-launching destroyer--which you helped arrange for me--I have reached some conclusions which I would like to pass on to your important committee in the House.

These conclusions are also formed from my previous military and private trips to Europe, Puerto Rico, and Alaska.

I am firmly convinced that we are not waging the war against Communism in Viet Nam, Cuba and many other parts of the world with the strength and thoroughness befitting a strong democracy. And one of the reasons for this is the inherent weakness in the up-and-down strength, taken over the years, of our Armed Forces.

For one thing, we depend too much on "dollar diplomacy" abroad, and when that doesn't work, we must rely on our Armed Forces, which are not CONTINUING and PERMANENT and PROFESSIONAL forces, because the enlistments and personnel change so much because they are so poorly paid, compared to our civilians which the Armed Forces are sworn to protect!

As I said in my articles written while on the Pacific, I honestly believe that the pay of the Armed Forces, particularly the lower grades, should be DOUBLED in order to encourage enlistments of young men who really want to make a career of the Armed Forces. Then, instead of losing good trainees and officers who have proven themselves, after their initial training and educational programs, they would elect to stay in the ARMED FORCES, where during peacetimes (and there are SOME peaceful times, if intermittently) they could be given thorough and complete educational advantages.

I truly believe that the extra cost of such a "professional" Armed Services could be gotten from savings by reducing losses of trained personnel to private industry, and if not entirely from that, then from more careful application of our "dollar diplomacy" abroad!

How can we expect our men in service to continue with enthusiasm when (as I noted on the USS Buchanan) the gunner's mate was drawing $35 a week and a young man at the steam throttle of that $50 million fighting ship pocketed only $17 from his two-weeks pay?...

Isn't it a little ridiculous when our fighting men are paid like that when we pay the pinks and goons who have dodged the draft and are now drawing $250.00 monthly in the "poverty camps"? ? ?

Isn't it also discouraging to them to learn that we allow $100 monthly to the Cubans who are running away from their internal battle with Castro? Do these conditions make sense to them? How can they put their hearts into the fight when they know back home businesses and individuals are profiting from a "war economy" during an undeclared war, unfettered by war-time austerity measures--wage and price controls and rationing?!

I have talked to many about these conditions, not only men in service, but men on the home front. It all seems clear to them, but apparently not to our leaders in high places. Would you place these thoughts before your important House committee, for more informed and strategically-placed minds to consider during the Congress ahead?

Yours truly,
Edward W. Sowers
"One of Your Constituents"

HEATING THE BASEMENT FAMILY ROOM CAN BE EASY

If you've spent part of last summer turning your basement into a family room which now turns out to be too cold for comfort, don't be discouraged. There are several things you can do, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

If you have a hydronic (hot water) heating system, your heating contractor can use your existing boiler to supply heat to the room via easily installed baseboard radiation. If your system isn't hydronic, you can still install a self-contained system in the family room. It consists of an extremely compact boiler no larger than a tv set, a pump for circulating the hot water through the baseboard and a thermostat.

Hydronic heat offers clean even heat from floor to ceiling.

"CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION" SUPPORTS AMENDMENT NO. 3

Will the January 14 special election be the last time the voters of Missouri will be able to have a hand in the redistricting of their State House of Representatives? Governor Warren E. Hearnes seems to think so and he and other proponents of Amendment No. 3 are waging what they call a "campaign of education" to garner support for its passage.

This campaign may include a series of television appearances by the Governor during the last 10 days before the election. This active support for the proposed amendment will mark a different stance for the Governor, who -- with some misgivings -- publicly supported Amendment No. 3 last August, but only because he felt it represented a majority will. Now he's giving the present amendment whatever support is within his power as an individual because he feels the proposal is an acceptable one.

The "campaign of education" which the Governor and members of his staff and others are supporting centers around two main points:

First, say Amendment proponents, a vote against No. 3 is not a vote against the theory or concept of reapportionment.

Second, by the time of the election, the federal court order to reapportion the House will be 13 months old.

"It's not reasonable to assume that the federal court will delay any longer," said the Governor's Press Secretary Will Davis, who has been speaking on behalf of the amendment in the state.

David pointed out that the only date mentioned by the federal court to reapportion the House was June 30, 1965 -- the end of the regular session. At that time, the first amendment has been proposed but it was defeated at the polls on Aug. 17.

After Amendment No. 3 was beaten in August, Davis said, the court waited for an alternative -- which would be acceptable to the court, as well as to the people -- to come out of the special session called by Governor Hearnes.

Now, the court will wait until Jan. 14, Davis says, who thinks the patience of the court must surely be about at an end.

"People who say the court will give more time on this are forgetting a guiding statute," Davis explained. "Anyone who wants to file for a House seat has until the last Tuesday in April: April 26."

Even if Amendment No. 3 passes, the commission it sets up won't be effective for 30 days (as a Constitutional Amendment), which puts the date in mid-February.

The time element also is involved in the five-day limit in which district committees must meet and present their panels to the Governor, who will have another 5 days in which to select Commission members from the panels. The Commission, in turn, will have about 40 days in which to do their work, which will take until about April 10.

"We feel that if the voters understand what is involved," Davis said, "they will pass the Amendment for their own good and the good of the state."

House members have a stake in this proposal and have shown a degree of enthusiasm, Davis added. "We assume and hope they're working for this in their home districts;" Davis said, "otherwise, they may wake up and find themselves running at large. Then they'd want to turn the clock back and do something about it."

'TERRIFIC RESPONSE' FOR VOTING LAWS CHANGES

There has been a "terrific response" to Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick's drive for a study and modernization of Missouri's election laws.

The next step, according to Kirkpatrick, will be to wait for recommendations from the preliminary study research being conducted by members of the political science department at the University of Missouri. "If they feel there is basis for an in-depth study," Kirkpatrick said, "we'll seek financing for an impartial, non-political research project."

Such an in-depth study would be the basis for "a complete overhaul -- not like the patchwork which has been done before," according to the Secretary.

Cape Airport Bonds Pass

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Cape Girardeau's $880,000 municipal airport bond issue was passed with 32 votes to spare, tabulation of absentee ballots showed.

With 178 of 214 absentee voters casting ballots in support of the $880,000 proposal, the final tally was 3,690 votes in favor and 1,797 votes opposed.

At the end of regular balloting Tuesday, the count was 3,512 in favor and 1,761 opposed, four votes short of the two-thirds majority needed.

Twice previously, airport bond issues had failed. On Nov. 23, an identical issue was narrowly defeated and in February, 1964, a larger issue was soundly beaten.

John Adams
President, 1797-1801

In a letter to Abigail Adams, John Adams wrote:

"My country has, in its wisdom, contrived for me the most insignificant office (the vice presidency) that ever the invention of man contrived or his imagination conceived."

During their courtship, John Adams brought Abigail Smith a letter ordering her to "give the bearer as many kisses and as many hours of your company after six o'clock as he shall please to demand and charge them to my account. I presume," he added, "I have a good right to draw upon you for the kisses, as I have given two or three millions at least, where one has been received, and of consequence the account between us is immensely in favour of yours, John Adams."

When Congress finally voted to increase the U. S. Navy, John Adams wrote to a friend:

"Oh! the wisdom, the foresight and the hindsight and the rightsight and the leftsight, the northsight and the southsight, and the eastsight and the westsight that appeared in that august assembly."

John Adams was fascinated by Benjamin Rush's book on mental disease and he wrote a note to Dr. Rush saying:

"It proved us all to be a little cracked."

As I said in my articles written while on the Pacific, I honestly believe that the pay of the Armed Forces, particularly the lower grades, should be DOUBLED in order to encourage enlistments of young men who really want to make a career of the Armed Forces. Then, instead of losing good trainees and officers who have proven themselves, after their initial training and educational programs, they would elect to stay in the ARMED FORCES, where during peacetimes (and there are SOME peaceful times, if intermittently) they could be given thorough and complete educational advantages.

I truly believe that the extra cost of such a "professional" Armed Services could be gotten from savings by reducing losses of trained personnel to private industry, and if not entirely from that, then from more careful application of our "dollar diplomacy" abroad!

How can we expect our men in service to continue with enthusiasm when (as I noted on the USS Buchanan) the gunner's mate was drawing $35 a week and a young man at the steam throttle of that $50 million fighting ship pocketed only $17 from his two-weeks pay?...

Isn't it a little ridiculous when our fighting men are paid like that when we pay the pinks and goons who have dodged the draft and are now drawing $250.00 monthly in the "poverty camps"? ? ?

Isn't it also discouraging to them to learn that we allow $100 monthly to the Cubans who are running away from their internal battle with Castro? Do these conditions make sense to them? How can they put their hearts into the fight when they know back home businesses and individuals are profiting from a "war economy" during an undeclared war, unfettered by war-time austerity measures--wage and price controls and rationing?!

I have talked to many about these conditions, not only men in service, but men on the home front. It all seems clear to them, but apparently not to our leaders in high places. Would you place these thoughts before your important House committee, for more informed and strategically-placed minds to consider during the Congress ahead?

Yours truly,
Edward W. Sowers

HEATING THE BASEMENT FAMILY ROOM CAN BE EASY

If you've spent part of last summer turning your basement into a family room which now turns out to be too cold for comfort, don't be discouraged. There are several things you can do, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

If you have a hydronic (hot water) heating system, your heating contractor can use your existing boiler to supply heat to the room via easily installed baseboard radiation. If your system isn't hydronic, you can still install a self-contained system in the family room. It consists of an extremely compact boiler no larger than a tv set, a pump for circulating the hot water through the baseboard and a thermostat.

Hydronic heat offers clean even heat from floor to ceiling.

Today In U. S. History

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 4, the fourth day of 1966. There are 361 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1896, Utah was admitted to the Union as the 45th state.

On this date

In 1790, George Washington issued the first annual presidential message.

In 1838, the famous midget, Tom Thumb, was born in Bridgeport, Conn.

In 1921, the Rockefeller Foundation announced that yellow fever had been wiped out in Ecuador.

In 1936, the Nazis ordered military training for children in Germany.

In 1946, Gen. Douglas MacArthur invited 39 leading American educators to help set up a democratic school system in Japan.

Ten years ago — The first train on the new railroad between Peking and Moscow left Peking.

Five years ago—U.S. government expressed hope that the break in diplomatic relations with Cuba will spur the Organization of American States to take action soon to quarantine the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

One year ago — President Johnson — in his State of the Union message—issued an invitation to the Soviet Union's new leaders to visit the United States.

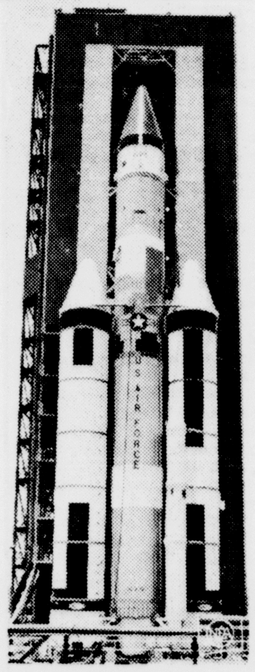

Assign Duty To Patrolmen

POPLAR BLUFF -- Four new highway patrolmen have been assigned to the troop E area which includes 14 counties in Southeast Missouri.

The men will begin duty Jan. 3. They graduated Dec. 23 from the 10-week highway patrol academy at Rolla.

Assignments include Arthur G. Collier, a native of Mississippi County, assigned to Dexter; Lowell E. Cox, a former employe of the Highway Department at Sikeston, stationed at Kennett; Norris R. Grissom, a Steele native, assigned to Charleston, and Benny R. Hinton, a former member of the Cape Girardeau Police Department, stationed at Ironton.

FOUR-IN-ONE—An experimental four-in-one satellite package to be launched from Cape Kennedy aboard a three-stage Titan 3C rocket includes a Christmas present for ham radio operators. One of the four satellites to be placed in stationary orbit at 20,000 miles from earth will provide relay channels for radio hams. Built by space engineers who also happen to be hams, the satellite's speed and orbit will keep it at roughly the same spot above the earth to permit signal relaying 24 hours a day.

Roast or Braise?

Can beef rump or sirloin tip be roasted? Some of these large cuts can be and often are sold as roasts for oven or rotisserie. This may be confusing since they're cooked by roasting or braising depending upon the tenderness of the cut.

It's difficult for Mrs. Homemaker to decide this before cooking although grade or quality is a guide. Sometimes when one of these cuts is roasted it might give more eating satisfaction if it had been braised.

If she prefers to roast either beef rump or sirloin tip, a good rule is to cook and serve the meat rare (actually, if the internal temperature registers 150°F., this is regarded favorably). Serve thinly sliced.

Each of these procedures favorably affects the tenderness impression.

Survivors include five sons, John Schuchart, Rudolph Schuhart, and Robert L. Schuhart, all of route four, Sylvester (Wes) Schuhart, route one, and Emil J. Schuhart, Sikeston; 26 grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Xerophytes are found in the desert. They are plants adapted to growth with a limited water supply.

Morehouse Boy in Crash

A 16-year-old Morehouse juvenile was involved in a car-truck collision at the west city limits of Morehouse at the junction of highway 60 and 114, last night at 8:05 p.m.

He was driving a 1963 Chevrolet when he ran into the rear wheel of a White tractor trailer, driven by Clarence Slabaugh, 34, Portage, Ind.

Injured in the accident was a passenger in the Chevrolet, Wayne Wiedefeld, 15, Cape Girardeau, who received cuts and bruises, and was taken to the Missouri Delta Hospital.

Jesse Shipp, 41, Sikeston, was driving a 1961 Ford, last night at 9:20 p.m. on highway 61, five miles south of New Madrid when his car struck a concrete bridge abutment, and turned over.

He was arrested for driving while intoxicated and taken to the New Madrid jail.

Sylvia Keith, 43, Vanduser, at 8:20 a.m. on route Z, was driving a GMC truck, which ran into the side of a 1963 Pontiac, driven by Elowee Boley, 37, Vanduser.

Neither driver was injured. Keith was arrested for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Storms Rage In Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, rain and strong winds strafed the Far Northwest today.

Biting cold hung on in Montana.

Rain doused an area from north central California into Washington and snow swept across the high elevations through Idaho and Montana. Southern Montana was to get from 3 to 5 inches of snow during the day.

The Ganges is probably the most religiously significant river on earth since it is the great holy river of 350 million Hindus. This river, and others in India, is considered more or less divine by the Hindus since it is believed to flow from the head of Shiva, one of the great Hindu divinities. It stretches about 1,500 miles from the central Himalayas to the Bay of Bengal.
